SERIOUS RIOT.

LONDON, July 18.—Quite a serious riot has just occurred in Greenwich. A man named Pook, who had been acquitted in a murder trial, was, upon his release from imprisonment, set upon by a crowd of people, excited over what they thought a mockery of justice. The crowd soon swelled to immense proportions, and Pook was mobbed by fully four thousand people. A number of fights ensued between the friends of the released prisoner and the mob, and the town was soon in such a state of uproar that the frightened shop-keepers closed their stores, and business was entirely suspended. This condition of affairs lasted for an hour or two, until finally the constabulary succeeded in restoring peace and quiet without the assistance of the militia.

RIOT IN VIENNA.

Reports have just been received from Vienna, representing that a terrible riot had occurred there on Sunday. The Socialists are said to have attacked the ultra Montanes, and many persons are reported injured. LONDON, July 18.—A meeting was held last evening to consider the question of the erection of a monument to William Shakspeare upon the Thames embankment. The meeting was very enthusiastic and such promises of material aid were given that the monument will certainly be erected.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

Advices from Athens announce a terrible disaster on board a Greek man-of-war. The magazine of the steamer Eunomia exploded on the 3d instant, in the Grecian Archipelago. Forty of her crew were killed and nearly all the rest of the crew were more or less injured, while the vessel was almost entirely destroyed.

A resolution was unanimously passed by Councils "That in the completion of the Chicago and Southwestern Railroad to Leavenworth we recognize a road that is to be of inestimable benefit to our city, and we pledge them our friendship and hearty co-operation in their efforts to give us increased railroad facilities." Our people heartily endorse the action of the City Council, and they are united and determined to aid all legitimate railroad enterprise.

THE RIOTS.

Thomas M. Clarry died this morning of a wound received on the 12th. There are twenty-five wounded still at Bellevue and Mount Sinai Hospitals, five of whom cannot recover. The funeral of Walter R. Pryor, late a member of the Ninth Regiment, will take place Thursday afternoon from Calvary Church. The body will be escorted to Woodlawn Cemetery, by the Ninth Regiment, and a force of police and interred with military honors. Pryor was shot by a burly ruffian who stood in a coal cart and took deliberate aim with a horse pistol or dragoon revolver. A man saw him perpetrate the act and will be able to recognize him should he meet him again.

President Manierre of the Police Board announced to-day that he had been requested by his associates in the Board to say that in consequence of the extraordinary and meritorious duty rendered by the police on the 12th inst., all complaints against officers for violation of rules made prior to the 16th inst. will be dismissed. The President of the Police Commission has received and transmitted to the Superintendent of Police an extract from a letter from Col. Porter of the 22d Infantry addressed to the Major General Commanding, as follows: "I desire also to speak in the highest terms of the gallant conduct and valuable services of detachments of police on my front and rear flank."

THE STOCK MARKET.

Yesterday the stock market was more active as compared with the extreme dullness of last week, but the amount of business is far from important, except in a few instances. The changes, which were generally for the better, were, however, slight. Erie attracted the most attention as a feature in the forenoon, and after advancing to 29¼, was abandoned for the New York Central, which was quite favorably influenced by the Washington telegrams stating that Commissioner Pleasonton had been sustained by the President in his views of the action to be taken with reference to the enforcement of the collection of the tax on the scrip dividend of 1868. One telegram says specifically that Caleb Cushing, the attorney in the New York Central scrip dividend case, was notified this morning that the whole subject had been referred back to Commissioner Pleasonton for final adjustment. The Commissioner has been instructed to consider the case the same as if no appeal had been taken to Secretary Boutwell. This doubtless means that General Pleasonton is to proceed in his proposed plan of investigating the accounts of the company, for the purpose of ascertaining how much of the scrip dividend represents the earnings of the road, since the revenue law went into operation, at least. The news had the effect of advancing the stock to 96 3-4, and the scrip to 91 7-8. The Gold Room was induced to believe that the affront to Secretery Boutwell, conveyed in this action of the President, would occasion his resignation of the Secretaryship. The other shares, supposed to be more or less under the patronage of the Vanderbilt party, were sympathetically strong; meantime the recent decline in the mortgages of the Union Pacific Railroad began to be felt in the shares of the company price, which went off to 28 7-8. Pittsburgh underwent a spasmodic rise to 120 1-4, and the Pacific Mail lost some of its late firmness. Elsewhere the market presented little of interest, and the fluctuations unimportant.

MURDER TRIAL.

The trial of V. W. Buckhart for the murder of Alfred Randell, of Sleepy Hollow, continues at the Court House at White Plains. Yesterday when Caleb Horton, S. C. Horton, Noah Briggs, Stephen M. Leggate, G. J. Campbell, S. Sydney Bayles, B. S. Horton, Wm. Sherwood and Dr. Hart were called by the prosecution they gave rebutting testimony. All the witnesses called were neighbors of the prisoner, whom they had known for periods varying from five to twenty years. They considered him a shrewd man in all his business transactions and at all times his conduct perfectly sane and rational. Rev. S. M. Vanduzen, of White Plains, testified that he had a brief interview with the prisoner in jail during the month of February, 1870, and on that occasion Buckhart's conversation and conduct were in all respects perfectly rational.

KU KLUX.

A telegram says that on Thursday night last a large body of disguised men went to the Alabama and Chattanooga yard, in Chattanooga, Tenn., and captured and locked up the watchman in the round house, and then entirely disabled all the engines in it, by removing parts of the machinery, which can only be replaced by shops in the East. No clue is obtained to the perpetrators. No trains left that city on that railroad on Friday. Superintendent J. C. Stanton was in the city at the time endeavoring to make arrangements for funds to pay employes.

THE PRESIDENT.

President Grant and family, General Porter and wife, and General Ingalls visited Fort Hamilton yesterday. Upon their arrival at the fort a salute of twenty-one guns was fired. After inspecting the forts and surroundings, they participated in a grand ball and banquet, given them in honor of the visitors. They returned from Sandy Hook in the steamer Henry Smith, on board of which were General Voges, Col. Hamilton, all the army officers stationed in the harbor fortifications and the band of Fort Abraham.

GRAND DUKE ALEXIS.

Private advices per cable represent the Grand Duke Alexis as having arrived at Cronstadt to superintend personally the outfitting of a splendid squadron which is to accompany him to the United States in September. A grand buffalo hunt on the plains of the far west is said to be in contemplation for the Imperial visitor, and on his return the Czar will be given charge of Page's magnificent picture of Admiral Farragut which is a gift from the citizens of the United States.

THE BRITISH CENSUS.

The result of the census taken at midnight on Sunday, April 30, 1871, throughout Great Britain has just been officially announced. The entire population of England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales and the channel islands and the Isle of man, including the army, navy and merchant marine a road is, males, 15,549,271; females, 16,267,837. Total, 31,609,910. The preponderance of females over males is 718,568.

ARMY OFFICERS.

A board of officers consisting of Colonels Randolph B. Marcy, John H King, Henry I. Hunt, and Majors Richard J. Dodge and Andrew J. Alexander, met this afternoon at army headquarters in this city for the purpose of preparing a system of general regulation for the administration of the general affairs of the army under special instructions from the Secretary of War. After organizing the board adjourned until to-morrow.

FINANCIAL.

The Tribune's financial article says: Lake Shore is apparently the key of the market at present, all speculations hanging for the time being on the movement in this specialty, which in turn depends upon the scrip dividend to be declared on the 27th inst. There is a marked absence of familiar faces on the street, the principal operators and speculaters being out of town for their summer vacation, which accounts for the lack of spirit.

SMUGGLING.

In the District Court of Brooklyn, the steamer Cleopatra has been declared forfeit to the Government for violation of the revenue law, the act consisting in the smuggling four hundred dollars' worth of cigars by employees on board. The Judge recommended action to be taken by the Attorney General against the parties directly concerned in the violation of the law, as the decision only affects the owners of the steamer.

SMALL POX.

The Brooklyn Board of Health to-day authorized the health officer to isolate all town residences of persons afflicted with small pox if possible, instead of transfering them to the hospital. The health officer was also empowered to place a sign, announcing small pox on any building where such a patient was known to exist.

HARTFORD AND ERIE.

The Post says we learn the Supreme Court of Rhode Island yesterday granted an order to show cause why a final order for foreclosure and sale of the division of the Boston, Hartford and Erie Road in that State should not issue. It is expected that similar orders will issue in Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York.

BAGGAGE SMASHING.

John Allen and Matthew Coombs, brakemen on the Camden & Amboy Railroad, were arrested to-day on a charge of stealing from the baggage cars of that road. Keys fitting the baggage cars were found in their possession. A large amount of property has disappeared during transmission on this road.

GROCERS BOARD OF TRADE.

At a meeting of dealers in tea, coffee, &c., to-day a constitution and by-laws for a Grocers' Board of Trade was adopted, and Wm. A. Booth elected President; Vice Presidents: Chas. E. Hill, Geo. W. Lane, Benj. B. Sherman and Thos. G. Arnald.

A NOTORIOUS THIEF.

Greenthall, a notorious New York thief, was arrested in Jersey City late last evening by detective Nugent. He had in his possession a quantity of stolen cloth and a note for one hundred and eighty-one dollars. He was held for examination.

QUICK TRIP.

The Inman steamship City of Brussels, from New York, July 8th, arrived at Liverpool on Monday, the 17th inst., at 5 P. M., making the run from port to port in nine days, and to Queenstown in little over eight days.

BASE-BALLERS ARRESTED.

Higham and Wylie, members of the Mutual Base Ball Club, were arrested yesterday on a charge of assaulting members of the Haymaker Club, of Troy, last week, and held to answer before Judge Walsh.

NO LIVES LOST.

No lives were lost by the capsizing of the yacht Jessie last Sunday. The crew were rescued by a passing schooner, and the yacht was picked up and left at Fort Hamilton by the steamer City of Mexico.

WEATHER.

The weather is cool and pleasant, and the sanitary condition of the city is remarkably good.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Coolies for Peru.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18.—It is reported that Harry Meigs has contracted for the shipment of six hundred Chinamen from San Francisco to Peru, to labor on the public works. It is, however, doubtful.

CHURCH IN RUINS.

The Methodist Church, brick, costing $75,000, at Virginia City, fell a mass of ruins this evening, burying the dwelling of a negro family alongside. A negro's ribs were broken. There were no lives lost.

AN OUTLAW DEAD.

It is reported and generally believed that Manuel Sasida generally known as the Tiger of Alica who for twenty years has maintained the guise of an independent chieftain in the ship district of Tepic, Western Mexico, defying all attempt of the government to subdue him, died recently from the re-opening of old wounds.

CANADA.

Large Fire.

OTTAWA, July 18.—A large fire occurred last night in Ridean street, at Angeis's furniture store. Kearn & Ryans, dry goods, and Gelhausen, tobacconist, were burned. Loss is estimated at $29,000. Partially insured.

SHIP LOST.

QUEBEC, July 18.—The ship Minerva, from Liverpool to Montreal, has been lost off Cape Briton. Passengers and crew saved.

THE SUNNY SOUTH.

AT Seale Station, Ala., on July 6th, during a heavy rain and thunder-storm, a livery stable was struck by lightning, carrying away and damaging the front of the building. A lad aged about ten years was killed, and three other persons were prostrated, they being the only persons in the stable at the time. The men who were prostrated by the shock were taken to and held in a stream of water near by, and after some time came to. They are about again, but all of them complain of injuries sustained.

A CASE of a negro man vomiting up a living blacksnake was mentioned in these columns a few days since. The negro lives near Lynchburg, Va., and the Republican of that city has learned upon undoubted authority that "he has since thrown up two others, both living and genuine blacksnakes." One of the snakes has been preserved in alcohol. The health of the negro for sometime has been feeble and he fully believes that he has been "tricked" or "conjured" by some unknown enemy. Since he has rid himself of the three snakes his health is said to have greatly improved.

THE Dardanelle (Texas) Chronicle contains the following: "Mr. James Walker, brother of our county Judge Walker, was killed on last Friday. Mr. Walker was in custody and under guard at the time. It appears that his wife had him arrested for abusing her the day previous, and while Walker was lying upon a bed or bench in the room where he was under guard some person came up to the house and put the muzzle of his or her gun through a crack in the wall of the house, and fired upon him, killing him instantly. The murderer is unknown, and made his or her escape—it being in the night when the deed was done."

NEWBERN, Tennessee, has been greatly excited over the attempt to poison the wells in that vicinity by a man named Hood. Arbitrators had been chosen by Hood and his wife, who have recently separated, to make a division of property. The division made, angered Hood, who charged the arbitrators with partiality, and, threatening vengeance, he wrote a note to a physician asking him to send arsenic enough to poison five or six wells, threatening the doctor with death if he did not comply. Instead of sending the arsenic, the doctor notified the people of Newbern, and a company of men was organized and started in pursuit of Hood, who, however, made his escape.

THE Louisville Commercial complains earnestly of the outrages committed by a band of lawless men in Estill County, Kentucky. These outrages, it says, have continued for several months. Even a helpless woman was terribly whipped because of her refusal to promise that she would cease telling what she thought of such midnight marauders. The trustee of Berea College was whipped for consulting with the blacks in Fitchburg, and several others for less offenses. Three men were murdered at the May election, in Miller's Creek precinct, and a mob of sixty men lately attemped to murder at night a negro family in Fitchburg. Various threats have been made against the blacks in general at the Red River iron works, and against the skilled miners employed there, who have mainly come from other States. Individuals and whole families have been notified to leave at the peril of their lives, and mining operations in Estill county have for the present entirely ceased, and 400 operators have left.

THE depredations of Lowry and his band of outlaws, in Robeson county North Carolina, have become so frequent of late that the sheriff of that county has organized a force of citizens and started in pursuit of them. From the Wilmington Morning Star of the 12th inst., we learn that a fight took place on Monday last near Lumbertown, between ten men of the sheriff's posse and the outlaws. The latter were concealed behind an ingeniously-constructed ambuscade, and a desperate fight ensued. The outlaws were finally driven from their position, but not until three of the citizens had been killed and three others wounded. None of the outlaws are known to have been killed or wounded. The sheriff of Robeson has sent to Wilmington to procure effective arms. He says, in his letter asking for arms, "Our people are out after the band in large force and we need, very much, good arms." The people are thoroughly aroused, and will not rest until the whole villainous band is captured or exterminated. The wife of Lowry, the leader of the gang, and several persons connected with the band, have already been captured and are in jail.

WASHINGTON, July 18, 1871.

THE FUNDED LOAN.

A schedule is now being made out at the Treasury Department making out the quarterly interest on the funded loan, which falls due August 1st. This interest must be paid by coin checks sent directly to the holder of the bond from the United States Treasurer, instead of through the sub-Treasurer as heretofore. This is considered a favorable change, as the holder is not compelled to sign it at the sub-Treasurer's as heretofore; whereas now the draft is forwarded to the holder, who puts his indorsement upon it. The draft so indorsed is then receipted for the interest, and can be collected like any other negotiable paper through the banks.

THE INDIANS.

Capt. Bernard reports from Camp Bidwell, northern California, that he has sent Lieut. Kyle and a party of men to Fall river and Big Valley to investigate the reports of apprehended danger from the Indians in those localities. Capt. Bernard also says the Indians say their agent will give them nothing and they are forced to hunt for roots or starve. If this be true when the season is over they may steal stock to live on. General Ord, speaking of Captain Bernard's communication, says: "I learn that the Pacutahs have nearly all left the Indian reservation at Pyramid Lake for want of food. Fish is their only food. These have failed to come down the Pureke. The Indians have taken to the mountains and valleys north, near and in Oregon and on Pitt river to hunt for roots and obtain food. These valleys are more or less occupied by settlers and ranchemen. If the Indians in their hunger should, as they are likely to do, kill the stock or cattle of the ranchemen, they will probably retaliate by shooting some stray and perhaps innocent Indian, and in this way lead to difficulties. I think if the Indian Department of Nevada is powerless to give food to starving Indians, military commanders should be authorized to issue orders to send food in limited quantities which would be less expensive than having to fight them. Every precaution will be taken to prevent a difficulty but starving Indians cannot be reasoned with.

Gen Cowan, acting Secretary of the Interior, to-day telegraphed the Hon. John D. Long, at Vasalboro, Maine, asking him if he can come here at once to take charge of the duties of Vincent Collyer, Indian Commissioner, so as to allow the latter to go to Arizona and New Mexico. Long is requested to come prepared to stay two or three weeks. Hon. George H. Stuart, at Philadelphia, President of the Board of Indian Commissioners at the same time is notified of the action of the department. The object of Mr. Collyers trip to New Mexico is to assist Superintendent Pope in his efforts to induce the famous Apache Chief, Cochine to visit Washington City and make peace with the whites.

Information was received at the Indian Bureau to-day of the death of Armego, principal chief of the Navaga nation of Indians, He died near Fort Defiance, New Mexico, June 5, of old age.

LIFE SAVING APPARATUS.

The subject of life saving apparatus was thoroughly considered, and it was found on practical tests that many were inferior and insufficient in buoyancy. The Board determined every life preserver should contain at least six pounds of solid cork blocks, and upon the subject of life boats the Board have determined the old standard of buoyancy too great, it being regulated to sixty pounds. The standard of capacity now is thirty persons for each boat, which enabled the boat to be operated, where it was merely an air tank to which persons could cling. Where the steamer is incapable of conveniently carrying a sufficient number of life boats in the ratio of thirty persons to each boat, including the crew, she may carry in lieu of them the rafts. The aggregate of these appliances may answer to the requirements of the law as the number of persons must be stated in the certificate of inspection, and where it is determined by the master inspector that a steamer cannot carry a sufficient number of boats and rafts, the steamer may carry other appliances which shall have been approved by the board in the shape of life saving mattresses, movable desks, beds, &c. A life preserver which may be applied to the body is required in all cases for all passengers and the crew in all kinds of steamers. The proviso in the seventh section of the law applicable to river steamers is that where the character of the navigation is such that in the opinion of the Supervising Inspector it is right that life banks be dispensed with, he is authorized to exempt any such steamer from carrying the same, or may require a substitute therefor at his discretion. The Board, however, have deemed it necessary, there should be a reform on the Western rivers, and have made a requirement for the full equipment of life saving apparatus as in all other cases, bringing in all steamers under the same rules and regulations. The fullest provision has been made for increased fire extinguishing apparatus and in all instances fire pumps are required to have their bilge in connection so as to be operated in discharging the water from the hold in case of leakage and additional pumping facilities must be provided which may also be turned to account for fire apparatus. Further provisions are made as to safety valves for boilers, and inspection of the boilers themselves, and also for the penalties which shall be incurred for breach of these provisions.

THE WEATHER.

The barometer has fallen slightly since Monday evening at the Rocky Mountain station. It has risen in the middle eastern States, but is now again falling rapidly from the lower Lakes to Texas and eastward to the Atlantic coast. The area of low barometer is now over Lakes Huron and Ontario. The temperature has been generally lower than on Monday, but the thermometer is again rising on the Atlantic. Southeasterly winds are reported from North Carolina to New Jersey, and southwesterly winds from Pennsylvania to Maine, as also on the Gulf coast. Rain and threatening weather extend from Georgia to Virginia and westward to Mississippi. Light rain is also reported from Minnesota and Vermont.

Probabilities.—It is probable that the barometer will continue low in the Gulf States, with increasing southerly winds and rain from Louisiana to West Virginia and eastward to the Atlantic. Falling barometer with threatening and rainy weather will probably prevail very generally on Wednesday in the middle and eastern States, and brisk winds from the southeast are probable for the coast. Local rains will probably extend over Minnesota and northern Wisconsin to-night.

SYMPATHY.

Commissioner Pleasonton has written a letter to Assessor Jourdan of Brooklyn, in which he expresses his deep sympathy with the family of Clinton Gilbert, who was killed while discharging his duty and closes as follows: "It may not be improper to inform your whole force that in view of growing perils of the civil service, it is my intention to recommend Congress through the proper channels that pensions shall hereafter be granted to those disabled and to the families of those slain in the National Revenue service, who merit the same consideration as the sailor and soldier maimed or killed in the battle field."

STEAMBOAT INSPECTORS.

The Secretary of the Treasury this afternoon approved the regulations of the Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steamboats and they therefore have all the force and effect of law. The bill as originally framed was modified by Congress and embraces some provisions not yet approved by the Board but postponed for further consideration in January next. Under the present law and regulations the penalties for violations of statute have been increased, thereby requiring more strict observance of means to prevent frequent disasters.

PLEASONTON

A BRUTE.

A colored man named Charles Hammond, of Darke county, on Saturday pursued a Miss Clay, who was passing to a neighbor's, and ravished her. He was arrested and lodged in jail, and it has since been discovered that he had made improper advances to two girls near Union City, of the ages of thirteen and sixteen, respectively, while the latter were gathering blackberries, and, overpowering the younger, was only prevented from carrying out his designs from her youth. Intense excitement prevails at Greenville, where he is imprisoned. It is generally believed that the wretch will be lynched.

Odd Fellows' Reception.

CLEVELAND, July 18.—A large number of Odd Fellows from the principal towns in Ontario arrived here last evening on the steamers Lady Franklin and Northwest, as the guests of the Odd Fellows of Northern Ohio. A formal reception took place at the Central Rink. The principal exercises take place to-day. The city is full of visitors.

The Odd Fellow's procession this morning was one of the finest ever seen in this city. All the brethren wore the handsome regalia of the Order, and the bands were out in full uniform, and numerous flags and banners were carried in the line. The lodges of this city and county were out in full force. A large delegation from other points was present. The column was a mile in length and contained about three thousand persons. After completing the march a banquet was partaken of at the Rink, at which place there was a re-union and a ball this evening.

ST. LOUIS.

Adams Express Case.

ST. LOUIS, July 18.—The Supreme Court in session at Jefferson City yesterday decided the case of the Adams Express Company vs. Reno by affirming the decision of the lower court. The case was briefly as follows: John Reno is a convict in the Missouri Penitentiary. Clinton Reno, a brother, sent $4,000 to be paid to one Bollinger whenever he procured John's pardon. The money was placed in the hands of the warden of the penitentiary to be paid to Bollinger in event of John's pardon. While in the warden's hands the money was attached by the Adams Express Company as part of the money of which they were robbed by Reno at Seymour, Indiana. Clinton Reno filed an interplea and recovered the money.

TERRE HAUTE.

Struck by Lightning.

TERRE HAUTE, July 18.—Two men, named respectively Kerchard and Baird, residing about eight miles below this city, started for town this morning with loads of wheat; one driving four and the other two horses. When about four miles south of town a shower came up and they drove under a large tree for shelter. While waiting there the tree was struck by lightning. Kerchard was injured beyond hope of recovery, Baird was knocked from his wagon across the road but not very seriously injured. The lead horses of one and both horses of the other were instantly killed.

She Wanted to Go to the Seaside and Will Go.

In a marble front dwelling on one of the most fashionable thoroughfares a few miles from Dayton, Ohio, a most foul murder was committed last week. A beautiful woman, the wife of a prominent business man of that city, about four months ago became the mother of a healthy and good looking child. The advent of that child was not an event particularly desired, because the mother had intended to visit the seaside this summer, and it would never do to carry a nursing baby to a fashionable resort, nor, having come, would it be just the thing to compress its windpipe or smother the little thing under a feather bed. It would be dreadfully unfashionable, you know, to have such things on one's conscience, and doctors are inquisitive, and the law no respecter of persons. The little thing lived four months—an unwelcome and unloved visitor. Last week it died—was murdered. This is how it was done: A great, rawboned, ignorant girl was appointed its nurse. It was taken out into the cold, given all sorts of improper food, shaken up like a dice-box; was taken sick and died. Family in terrible affliction. Splendid burial. Tears.—Prayers. "Earth to earth, dust to dust." Funeral baked meats. Nurse discharged. Tears dried, and so forth. The interesting mother looks splendid in her subdued mourning, and is packing her trunks for a journey to the seaboard on Thursday next. This is only one of many fashionable murders.

Mercer County Items.

An excursion to Conneaut Lake is contemplated this week....The oats and corn crops are promising....Blackberries are abundant.... Horse thieves are committing depredations by running off horses....A severe storm occurred on Sunday evening of week before last, uprooting trees and destroying fences. A new planing machine is to be started at Oakland....The Court has fixed the value of cow's tails, when bitten off by dogs, at three for ten dollars, cheap enough in fly time.... The frog-fishers of Pittsburgh are in the vicinity of Greenville, plying their vocation; they shipped $80 worth to Pittsburgh....The money drawer of a bakery belonging to a widow in Mercer was robbed of five dollars while the family was at tea....On Wednesday last a little daughter of T. S. Irwin, of Findley township, was accidentally shot by her twin brother, who was playing with a revolver.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Manning's great minstrel company to-night. It is one of the finest troupes in the country.

VARIETIES.—The Female Minstrels are drawing large audiences.

IT HAS been popularly supposed that Alexander the Great wept because he had no more worlds to subdue. Charles Sumner in his great speech on the San Domingo question demonstrated conclusively that this is a mistake—that Aleck wept because there were no railroads in Persia by which he could replace his supply of Pier, Dannals & Co.'s cream ale which was exhausted.

HORSE AND BUGGY FOR SALE.—A splendid mare, fast safe and sound in saddle or harness by Dr. Keyser, 167 Liberty street.

OAKDALE.

Trial of Mowing Machines.

The undersigned committee, appointed to superintend the trial of Mowing Machines had at Oakdale Station, July 11, 1871, to be conducted in accordance with the rules and regulations agreed upon by the exhibitors before entering the field, respectfully report:

That on the day of trial they repaired to a meadow on the farm of George Dickson, Esq., and there found entered and ready for trial the five following machines, to wit:

Clipper, four feet three inch cut, entered by Price, Stewart & Co.

Buckeye, four feet cut, entered by McElroy & Miller.

World, four feet cut, entered by Duncan & Owens.

Acme, four feet six inch cut, entered by George B. Throop.

Sprague, four feet cut, entered by Spratt, Johnston & Co.

The committee, by the rules adopted, were directed to examine the merits of each machine with special reference to the following points:

1—Mechanical construction—simplicity being the leading feature.

2d—Ease of management.

3d—Durability.

4th—Lightness of draft.

The meadow was an old one located on the creek bottom and covered with a thick growth of timothy, red top and the more fine undergrowth grasses. In the morning there had a show of rain fallen, and while the machines were under trial another very heavy shower fell, making it in every respect a severe test, but at the same time preventing us from giving each machine as thorough an examination and trial as we desired.

We take pleasure in saying that all the machines exhibited were worthy of commendation—performing their work well—and were so nearly balanced in many points that even, if time and weather had permitted us to have given them as thorough a trial as we could have wished, we think we would have found great difficulty in discriminating between them. We feel constrained, however, to say that in simplicity of construction we give the preference to the Buckeye, and while our means of ascertaining draft was not perfect, it was such as placed it beyond doubt that the Sprague was the lightest draft machine in the field.

In conclusion, we congratulate the farmer upon the fact that mowing machines generally, as now manufactured, have so nearly attained perfection that in making a selection of one, it is rather a matter of fancy than any real merit above another.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

OIL NEWS.

CRANBERRY.

Messrs. Vandergrift, Forman, Smith and Andrews finished a well on the Cannon Lease No. 1, on East Sandy, on Saturday. It is reported as doing fully fifty barrels a day. It is on the same ten-acre lease as the old Cannon well, which is now yielding about twelve barrels daily.

FOSTER.

Another hundred barrel well was secured on Prentice, Angell & Co.'s tract on Saturday. The working interest is the property of Messrs. Angell and Mattison.

The report of a new flowing well on that property last week was incorrect. It originated from the fact that well No. 11, the first flowing well on the property, which has of late been pumping about one hundred barrels daily, again commenced flowing at the rate of two hundred barrels, when the sucker-rods were pulled out in order to fit the valve.

The following items were copied from the East Brady Independent:

The McGough well, on the Robinson farm, has been torpedoed, and is now doing about 300 barrels per day.

The Lynch well, on the Milton farm, not yet drilled, is flowing through the casing, and gives indications of being a 100 barrel well.

George L. Binney, of Tidioute, finished a well at that place last week, which produces one hundred and fifty barrels daily. This well is located on Dennis Run, on an old lease which was considered by all but Binney as "played out."

The Tidioute Journal says: "The most surprising thing in oil development is the resuscitation of Triumph Hill. This territory was considered exhausted, and was abandoned some four years ago. At that time the wells were drilled into the third sand some fourteen or fifteen feet, the operators being afraid to go deeper lest they should strike an exhausted supply of salt water. But this spring some parties having a theory that there was still oil in paying quantities on the hill, drilled deeper, going sixty or sixty-five feet into the rock, and using torpedoes, and in every instance so far have succeeded in getting paying wells out of the old holes. Others went down along the Titusville road and put down wells, and every well is a success, some going as high as fifty barrels per day. Now, Triumph is producing six hundred barrels per day, where six months ago not ten barrels were produced, and new strikes daily are adding to the production."

The Petroleum Centre Record says: "Several small wells have recently been struck on the Pithole oil territory. Their average production is five to six barrels per day. Several new ones are going down. Oil matters are quite lively in that vicinity. A new well was struck on the Dempsey farm, near Kane City, Cherry Tree run, about four days ago, which is producing eight or ten barrels per day. It is located on lease 30 of the Dempsey farm, and is owned by O'Donnel, of Kane City. The well has a liberal supply of gas—enough to run itself and several drilling wells."

A Big Snake Killed by a Boy Ten Years Old

One day a couple of weeks ago, Willie, a son of Mr. Wash Shrodes, of Moon township, this county, while driving home the cows, a large black snake jumped from a tree and took after him. He had a small dog with him at the time, who began to worry the snake. This gave the boy an opportunity to seize a club, with which he finally killed his assailant. After he dispatched the reptile he tied a piece of hickory bark around its neck and dragged it to his home as an evidence of his prowess. The snake measured six feet and four inches in length, and was heavy in proportion. For a boy of only ten years of age to combat with and kill a reptile of that size, shows an amount of courage and pluck not usually found in one so young. About two years ago a snake of about the same size as the one here referred to, sprang from the same tree and chased a younger child of Mr. Shrodes for a considerable distance. The child fortunately got away without suffering anything but great fright. It is supposed that his snakeship of two years ago, and the one dispatched a few days since, were the same. The tree in which it seemed to have its home was a large chestnut with the top broken off.—Beaver Argus.

LOUISVILLE CEMENT.
The Best--The Cheapest.
The Cement has acquired the reputation as the first in the country in hydraulic strength and uniform reliability.
It is now in general use from the lakes to the Gulf, most of the public works in the West and South being constructed with it.
The mills at Louisville having been enlarged and improved, can supply any demand, and though the Cement has always, for 30 years brought higher prices than competing brands, it is from this time the determination of the manufacturers, in order to largely increase the sale and extend the use of their Cement, to furnish it to the principal markets at prices which make it the most available and economical for all classes of work.
The large capacity of this Cement for taking sand renders it much the cheapest that can be used for buildings of any kind.
At the reduced prices in Pittsburgh its cost is not much above common lime, which makes it unquestionably to the interest of owners and builders that the four ation of every good house should be laid in this Cement.
A large stock of fresh Cement has just been received by barges from Louisville, and is offered at greatly reduced prices by the following dealers:

PHILADELPHIA leads off in popularizing music in the public schools. Very wise and generous in Philadelphia.

GRANT still holds forth at Long Branch—not the first long branch he has used for a healthy purpose. Can our Democratic friends see the joke?

THE building of iron hulls does not appear to take hold of our master mechanics in the way that we should like to see. Other cities are leading us in this matter.

THE World says "had there been no procession there would have been no riot." With just as much truth we will add, had there been no reckless Hibernians there would have been no riot.

JEM MACE, the pugilist, wants to have another pummelling match with Coburn. It is to be hoped that the match will be made and that some first class undertaker will turn an honest penny out of it.

A BEAR has been discovered in Oregon this year, which was perfectly white, excepting that its long ears and a streak down its back were black. Nothing of the kind was ever seen before. It was, without doubt, an emblem of the new departure of the "white man's party."

THE very distinguished honor awarded to the memory of "Tad" Lincoln, a mere youth, by the press and people of the country, developes the fact that the love for the father is none the less dimmed since his death. The names of Washington, Lincoln and Grant will live so long as our States hold together in the grateful remembrance of the nation.

GENERAL BUTLER in a published letter has given his consent to the use of his name for the position of Governor of Massachusetts. The committee in addressing him, had the impudence to ask him whether if elected, he would enforce the laws. His reply was simply a reference to all of his past history. He will make an excellent Executive, but we shall be sorry to lose his valuable services in Congress.

THE ATTEMPT made in the State Temperance Convention, which met a short time ago at Philadelphia, by a few malcontents to place a temperance ticket in the field this fall, was defeated through the efforts of one or two of our western advocates and philanthropists. They argued, and rightly too, that all useful and commendable progress is to be found inside of the Republican party, and any attempt to foment discord, by inaugurating impractical dissensions, is unwise, and at the same time would defeat the very purpose aimed at.

WE ASK the attention of our readers to the article in another column taken from the Cincinnati Commercial, on "Political Hallucination." It is well known that that journal has no particular love for either the Republican party, or for President Grant's administration; on the contrary, from its past course, it has been deservedly classed among the opposition journals, and the article alluded to will, on that account, have all the more weight with unprejudiced minds. We commend it to our friend the Post, and ask it to give us its opinions on it. Will it do so, candidly? We shall see.

IF, as reported, Mrs. Stanton and Miss Anthony publicly attempted to justify Mrs. Fair, the woman who murdered Crittenden, during speeches made in California, we think that the audience did well to show their disapproval by hissing, and we also think that the two speakers in question have given a severe blow to the cause of Woman's Suffrage. It is doubtful whether women will, under any circumstances, be given the use of the ballot. But it is perfectly certain that they will never gain the ballot if such of them as advocate it insist upon coupling it with the lewd and vile question of free love.

THE World accuses the Radical party of having failed to heal the party wounds in New York, and, becoming desperate, getting up the Orange procession expressly for political purposes. This is the lamest tack the World has yet taken upon this question, and that is saying much. Supposing that, for the sake of argument, we were to admit that the Radical party were in such straits. What good, we should like to know, would the Orange procession, or the ensuing riots have done, if the Democrats had behaved like men and done their duty? It seems to us that the World, when it endorsed the Kelso proclamation put its feet into a quicksand, and every move it makes now, merely serves to sink it and its party deeper into the mire.

CHICAGO, at an annual cost of $210,000, in interest, rejoices that the clear water of the lake is now made to run through the sluggish ditch known as the Chicago river, thus carrying off the filth from the one hundred and sixty miles of sewerage, which hitherto has lain stagnant in this "foul channel." This improvement is one of which they may justly be proud, and proves that nothing is to be left undone to make Chicago a place second to none for healthfulness and comfort. They had much more to contend with than any other city in the land, but we predict that before many years Chicago will take rank among the most pleasant, as well as the most progressive cities on this continent. They have the spirit of progress, with the means, and they have made colossal strides during the past twenty years. Their history is a lesson to other cities.

THIS season has been an unhealthy one hereabouts. The particular and fashionable diseases peculiar to warm weather have been augmented with the small-pox, typhoid and other fevers. It is hardly probable that we will be visited with the cholera this year, but it is announced that it has made its appearance in Poland; and it is a pestilential disease that travels swift as lightning. Its second cousin, the cholera morbus, was never more prevalent than it has been since this month set in, and those who value their lives should be particularly careful in their diet and habits. The authorities should show a little fresh desire to improve the sanitary condition of the city. Although our streets are passably free from filth and disease producing garbage, still we imagine that our back alleys and out of the way premises are in splendid readiness for the dissemination of the cholera or any other pestilential disease. Let a general movement be made towards cleanliness, a great care taken in what sort of garden truck we eat, and what we drink, and we may be in fine condition to receive the grim foe of death and give him a good battle should he come in the guise of the Asiatic cholera under which he is now making havoc in the towns of Poland.

EVERYTHING is not serene in the dark and bloody ground. The vast Democratic majority in Kentucky is riven and the right hand does not know what the left hand is doing, neither does the left hand. The new departure has set the unhappy blue grass Democrats by their very capacious ears and the two branches of the party clash against each other as vigorously as do two long boughs of a tree in a heavy wind. Mr. J. Proctor Knott, a facetious gentleman, generally supposed to be a denizen of the wilds of Duluth, has been canvassing the State in Democratic interests, and, being possessed of rather more than the average quantity of Democratic honesty, he proclaims his adhesion to old party principles and scorns to steal his political opponents' party weapons with which to fight them. This with an eye single to whisky, the new departurists call Bourbonism, and it seems to be an ism which excites their ire amazingly, and their organ the Louisville Courier Journal says of him:

"By this course he has committed temporary felo de se at least on his reputation as a live man, at the same time that he has murdered his immediate prospects as a live politician; and, by the light which this most unwise course casts on his character, we begin to see how it was that so bright a man was not returned to a seat in Congress which he had really distinguished."

"Little birds in their nests agree" was never spoken of the Kentucky Democrats, and we do not wonder at these squabbles in that happy family. Indeed, it would be very surprising if the cunning and unprincipled disciples of Vallandigham did not feel themselves to be outraged by the actions of Mr. Knott, who seems to believe, with Rochefoucauld that "it is better to appear to be what we are than to affect to be what we are not," and it might perhaps be well for the Louisville Courier Journal if it would remember another of the maxims of the shrewd old French duke, which says: "We are never made so ridiculous by the qualities we have, as by those we affect to have."

LOUIS ADOLPHE THIERS is just now the most popular man in France. He has been, we might say, forced into this prominence by circumstances, and much against his will. He was called upon to assume the almost exclusive control of affairs in his native land, at a time when most men would have gladly shrunk away, discouraged, if not afraid. To make a mistake, was almost certain disgrace, if not death. To appease the mob spirit of disturbed Paris was an undertaking which required the wisdom of a Solon, and the courage of a Leonidas. Thiers is a man well fitted for the exciting times, through which France is now passing. Able, prudent and experienced, his every word is listened to by the people, and his every effort is a success. Obliged to meet financial requirements of a bewildering amount, with an empty treasury and a prostrate industry, the stoutest heart might have quailed, and the bravest soul might have given up in dispair. But this is not the character of our brave old philosopher. No other man in France could have united the discordant and wild elements of partisanship, and brought them into submission. In politics, an avowed Orleanist, yet he has always been partial to a liberal constitution. A Monarchist, he is willing to test the people under a republic. France, with him, is first always, her good, her peace, her prosperity, it matters not under what system of government, is his highest aim. Under the empire, he was arrayed on the side of the opposition, but not as a Republican. Since then he has become firm in his convictions that Imperialism is no longer tolerable in France. But Thiers is now an old man, in the seventy-fourth year of his age, and cannot much longer hope to be spared to fill the present useful position, as the head of the nation. Who will take his place? His death will again let loose the discordant elements of society, and may result in the re-establishment of one of the three dynasties on the throne of France. Already we have rumors of intrigue among the Orleanist and Bourbon factions, with dark hints that an effort is to be made to displace Thiers and overthrow his government. A coalition of this kind would be formidable, and if well managed would doubtless succeed, as the turbulent spirit of unrest is easily aroused.

Unhappy France, the whole world would rejoice to see you once more enjoying the peaceful and prosperous fruits of industry, unscourged by the torture of unrestful souls. What a pity that every scion of past dynasties, and every drop of royal blood were not obliterated from her soil if not, indeed, from the face of the earth. Then might we hope for the grandeur and greatness of her people, her art, her sciences, her industries taking that position before the peoples of the world, to which great merits entitle them. We hope brave Thiers may long be spared to hold up the olive branch to the Commune, while with the other hand he exhibits the scales of justice.

CRIMES seem to move in cycles as do fashions. The modes of murder and suicide come around and return again as do the modes in costumes. And so the era of poisoning has returned. In Connecticut the noted Sherman case is that of a woman accused of poisoning three husbands and eight children. In Kentucky a young woman is now under arrest charged with poisoning her husband, and in Baltimore a Mrs. Wharton is accused of having, by the use of drugs, made way with several human beings.

Of all this last, is doubtless the most singular, and, whatever the result, is certain to become a cause celebre if it does not achieve a place in that horrible German collection known as the Neue Pitival. Mrs. Wharton is a lady of cultivation, a member of a family of enviable social position in this State, and the widow of an officer of the regular army. The Whartons seem to have been essentially army people and the lady in question is connected either by blood or marriage, with many leading families in various parts of the country. Such being the case, it is not singular that she should have moved in the higher social circles in Baltimore, nor that her more than ordinary personal attractions and supposed financial independence, should have made her a general favorite.

In July, 1867, her husband, Colonel Harry Wharton, died very suddenly; soon after, his cousin, Colonel Edward Wharton, died suddenly while visiting at her house, with his daughter who survived her father but a few days. Last year Mrs. Wharton's son Major Harry Wharton, died suddenly, but still no suspicion, was excited. The family had the sympathy and respect of every one. But on the 24th of June General Ketchum, an old friend of the family, and Mr. Van Ness, a young man who managed Mrs. Wharton's affairs for her, both came to her house. The General was taken ill that night and died four days later, and the physician who attended him suspected poison. The body was removed to Washington where it was examined, and twenty grains of tartar emetic found in the stomach. The result was that Mrs. Wharton, who was to sail for Europe on the 12th, has been detained under arrest. In the meantime Mr. Van Ness was taken suddenly ill while at Mrs. Wharton's house, and although nourished with milk punches, in which tartar emetic was afterwards found, he grew rapidly worse until he was removed to his own house, where he still lies, we believe, in a critical condition.

Now it is a terrible thing to say that all these deaths were caused by the agency of Mrs. Wharton, but nevertheless that is what is now believed by many, and circumstances are against her. Her son had insured his life for a large sum scarcely a month before his death. She had, it is said, given her note for a large sum of money to General Ketchum, and the note was overdue. The General is supposed to have gone to Baltimore for the purpose of getting the money for it, yet he did not get the money, and the note cannot be found. One thing in Mrs. Wharton's favor, however, is that, of five deaths, but two seem to have been of pecuniary advantage to her.

However, the Grand Jury has made two presentments, one charging her with murdering General Ketchum and the other with an attempt to kill Mr. Van Ness. As soon as this was done she was removed from her home, where she had been under guard, to the county jail, where she now is, attended by her daughter who is permitted to remain as nurse, because her mother is subject to epileptic fits.

This is the story as it has been told to the Grand Jury and is not to be wondered at that it has created a most profound sensation in Baltimore. If Mrs Wharton be really guilty her only prototype in modern history is the famous Marchioness of Brinvilliers.

A Political Hallucination.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial.]

The apprehension which is industriously kept alive in some Democratic newspapers, that President Grant will use the military and his extraordinary powers to defeat the will of the people should the Democratic candidate for President next year receive the required majority of electoral votes to elect him, is as sheer a figment of diseased imagination as was ever coined.

He has shown less disposition to play the role of dictator than his predecessor, and in all matters outside appointments to office, and his scheme for acquiring San Domingo, has adhered very closely to his no-policy programme. Whatever else he may be or may not be, he certainly is not an arbitrary or overbearing Executive That he would use the extraordinary powers vested in him by Congress should there be a public exigency requiring it, need not be doubted, for he is capable of prompt decision and action.

Fortunately, were he ever so much disposed to employ Executive power in his own interest, he is not likely to be exposed to even the temptation to use it. As affairs now are, the election of a Democratic President in 1872 is one of the remotest of events. It will not make great difference whether Grant be nominated, or some other Republican named by the National Convention. The Democracy will not permit the Republicans to be beaten so long as it is possible to commit a blunder or enact a folly. If extreme Southern Democrats cannot give the coup de grace to the party prospects, Tweed, Oakey Hall, and other politicians of New York will be sure to effect it.

But does any one believe that the army could be used by General Grant, or any other President, to promote his own ambitious designs, and cheat the people out of the result of a fair election? The army is officered by men of fine intelligence, whose patriotism is as firm and abiding as that of any citizen of the Republic. They are men for the most part who have gone through the perils of a great war to preserve the Union and its liberal institutions. They are as jealous of their preservation, unimpaired, as any of the blatant demagogues who seek to excite popular mistrust. Is it probable they could be used to serve any man's ambition? On the contrary, were they convinced that either Grant or any other candidate sought to defeat the decision of the ballot-box, and seize upon power in defiance of the voice of the people, they would turn upon him as the Roman Commons did on Marcus Manlius, and hurl him to destruction.

But let us suppose the army could be made the instrument of such an enterprise. It does not much exceed thirty thousand effectives, and at least one-half of this number is employed in the Territories or on coast duty at points too remote to be made serviceable to the Presidential intention. And what could even thirty thousand troops accomplish against the will of a people, whose indignation, without respect to party, would kindle as quick as it did in New York and the country over when it was known that the authorities of that city had surrendered to the demands of an insolent and ferocious mob.

Equally absurd is the charge that Congress, by granting extraordinary powers to the Executive, sought to give him opportunity to use them to perpetuate his administration by force of arms. Had this been the design, what insanity to insist upon a reduction of the army to its minimum numbers, with such diminution of supplies of arms and amunition as seriously to interfere with its rapid transportation. The Lieutenant General found it essential to protest lest Congress carried army reform to an extreme point, and so reduce the service that it would not be adequate to the ordinary exigencies of the country. Does this look as though Republican Congressmen meditated a perpetuation of administrative power by military agency?

There is no person fit to be outside an idiot asylum who believes the gabble about military usurpation.

General Grant seems rather intent on demonstrating that we can get on very well without an Executive. He performs his official duties perfunctorily, hurries off to Long Branch and meditates excursions to California. To be as little in Washington and as much away from it as possible, is about his only apparent policy. Cabinet officers copy his example, and just now the great machinery moves with nobody more formidable than a Bureau officer to manage it, while the General of the Army is so far away that he could hardly be found with a telescope. While this philandering lasts, at least, we need not be on the alert for conspiracies against the liberties of the people. A lot of shepherds armed with pastoral crooks and water bottles would as soon arouse suspicions.

A point to be considered in connection with the legislation of Congress: Whatever may be thought of the wisdom or expediency of its reconstruction measures, there is nothing in them designed to take from any citizen his constitutional rights and privileges. On the contrary the legislation, fairly construed and applied, means protection to their exercise, as well for the weak as the strong, the poor as the rich, the humble as the great. Its whole tendency is to restrain local prejudices and hatreds, and prevent them from riding rough-shod over rights newly bestowed, and which need the confirmation of usage.

In all this is there anything to give color of suspicion to the silly charges trumped up against the President and Congress? Were we ever, as a people, more secure than now in all the privileges and immunities of citizenship? If the enfranchisement of a few who forfeited their political rights by their own acts are not restored to them as rapidly as we could wish, it is still to be remembered that the policy of the Government has steadily progressed in this direction, and that those who clamor for amnesty, are in part responsible for the delay by their own obstreperous conduct since the close of the war There are no causes for apprehension that we are on the verge of centralized or personal government, and those who talk of it, either do so for political effect or are the lingering advocates of a doctrine whose ultimate conclusion makes perfect liberty synonymous with individual supremacy—a condition impossible in an organized state of human society.

AN inhuman monster, in the person of a negro named Young, was brought before court at Bainbridge, Ga., on last Monday, charged with cruelty to his ward, a negro boy about five years old. Upon the boy's person being examined, his back was found to be literally skinned, and presented a disgusting appearance. Young had been in the habit of torturing the boy by degrees, as was clearly proven in court, the little fellow's back being "in the highest state of lacerated putrefaction." In default of bail the negro guardian was committed to jail.

TAD LINCOLN.

[From the New York Tribune.]

Most of those who read the dispatch announcing the death of Thomas Todd Lincoln will never think of the well-grown young gentleman who died on Saturday at Chicago. The name of "Tad"—a pet name given by himself with his first stammering utterances and adopted by his fond parents and the world—recalls the tricksy little sprite who gave to that sad and solemn White House of the great war the only comic relief it ever knew. The years that have followed, spent in study and travel, produced an entirely different person. The Tad Lincoln of our history ceased to exist long ago. The modest and cordial young gentleman who passed through New York a few weeks ago with his mother, will never be known outside of the circle of his mourning friends. But "little Tad" will be remembered as long as any live who bore a personal share in the great movements whose center for four years was at Washington.

He was so full of life and vigor—so bubbling over with health and high spirits, that he kept the house alive with his pranks and his fantastic enterprises. He was always a "chartered libertine," and after the death of his brother Willie, a prematurely serious and studious child, and the departure of Robert for college, he enstalled himself as the absolute tyrant of the Executive Mansion. He was idolized by both his father and mother, petted and indulged by his teachers, and fawned upon and carressed by that noisome horde of office-seekers which infest the ante-rooms of the White House. He had a very bad opinion of books and no opinion of discipline, and thought very little of any tutor who would not assist him in yoking his kids to a chair, or in driving his dogs tandem over the South Lawn. He was as shrewd as he was lawless, and always knew whether he could make a tutor serviceable or not. If he found one with obstinate ideas of the superiority of grammar to kite-flying as an intellectual employment, he soon found means of getting rid of him. He had so much to do that he felt he could not waste time in learning to spell. Early in the morning you could hear his shrill pipe resounding through the dreary corridors of the Executive residence. The day passed in a rapid succession of plots and commotions, and when the President laid down his weary pen toward midnight, he generally found his infant goblin asleep under his table or roasting his curly head by the open fire-place; and the tall chief would pick up the child and trudge off to bed with the drowsy little burden on his shoulder, stooping under the doors and dodging the chandeliers. The President took infinite comfort in the child's rude health, fresh fun and uncontrollable boisterousness. He was pleased to see him growing up in ignorance of books, but with singularly accurate ideas of practical matters. He was a fearless rider, while yet so small that his legs stuck out horizontally from the saddle. He had that power of taming and attaching animals to himself, which seems the especial gift of kindly and unlettered natures. "Let him run," the easy-going President would say, "he has time enough left to learn his letters and get pokey. Bob was just such a little rascal, and now he is a very decent boy."

It was evident that with all his insubordination and reckless mischief the spoiled child was at heart of a truthful and generous nature. He treated flatterers and office-seekers with a curious coolness and contempt, but he often espoused the cause of some poor widow or tattered soldier, whom he found waiting in the ante-rooms, and it was most amusing to see the hearty little fellow dragging his shabby proteges into the Executive presence, ordering the ushers out of the way, and demanding immediate action from headquarters. The President rarely refused a grace of this kind, and the demands were so frequent as to lose the charm of novelty.

One of the tricks into which his idleness and his enterprise together drove him, was the occasion of much laughter to the judicious, and much horror to the respectable in Washington. He invested, one morning, all his pocket money in buying the stock in trade of an old woman who sold gingerbread near the Treasury. He made the government carpenters give him a board and some trestles, which he set up in the imposing porte-cochere of the White House, and on this rude counter displayed his wares. Every office-seeker who entered the house that morning bought a toothsome luncheon of the keen little merchant, and when an hour after the opening of the booth a member of the household discovered the young pastryman the admired center of a group of grinning servants and toadies, he had filled his pockets and his hat with currency, the spoil of the American public. The juvenile operator made lively work of his ill-gotten gains, however, and before night was penniless again.

Although still a mere child at the death of his father, this terrible shock greatly sobered and steadied him. His brother Robert at once took charge of his education, and he made rapid progress up to the time of his sailing for Europe with his mother. He has ever since remained with her, displaying a thoughtful devotion and tenderness beyond his years, and strangely at variance with the mischievous thoughtlessness of his childhood. He came back a short while ago, greatly improved by his residence abroad, but always the same, cordial, frank, warm-hearted boy. In his loss the already fearfully bereaved family will suffer a new and deep affliction, and the world, which never did and never will know him, will not withhold a tribute of regret for the child whose gayety and affection cheered, more than anything else, the worn and weary heart of the great President through the toilsome years of the war.

POLITICAL.

TWO German clubs have been organized in Brooklyn since the riot, each member pledging himself that he would vote only for citizens of American birth to hold office.

THE Cincinnati Commercial while still holding to its depraved views on the tariff question, has veered about considerably in politics, and on Monday had an able and wise article in defense of President Grant.

THE Cincinnati Commercial says: "In brief, New York, heretofore in all candid calculations put down for the Democracy in the next Presidential election, is now a doubtful State, with the chances in favor of the Republicans. If it had not been for Hoffman's proclamation the State would have been Republican to a certainty."

THE Frankfort (Ky.) Yeoman, a leading Democratic paper, says: "Tammany may have made Morrissey, the gambler, a Congressman, and make Tweed the dictator of New York's policy, but it is asking too much to have him accepted as the exponent of American Democracy, any more than to have Morrissey accepted as the type of American statesmanship most desirable as an example for the rising youth of the country."

THE New York Evening Post says: The Chicago Republican and several other journals have mentioned Mr. James G. Blaine, Speaker of the House of Representatives, for Vice President. It is not likely that Mr. Blaine desires to exchange his present position as a representative of one of the strongest and most intelligent Republican districts in the country for the Vice-Presidency, to which office, promotion so seldom succeeds. It is probable that many of Mr. Blaine's more intimate friends desire him to be a candidate for President, and the Republican party might do much worse than nominate him.

A COMPLAINT is made by the Cincinnati Enquirer that the extent of the wisdom of some Democratic journals and Democratic politicians is to have their party platform come as near as possible to that of the Republican without being exactly the same. It asks all such Democratic politicians and journals: if there is to be little or no difference in measures and policy of the two parties, why turn the country upside down merely to make a change of persons?" And it says: "We tell all such Democrats that they are going to win by no such policy. The Democracy never has conquered and never will succeed by any such timid, flat and weak policy."

The Falls of St. Anthony Crumbling.

[From the Minneapolis (Minn.) Tribune, July 7.]

Considerable excitement was created in this city and St. Anthony, on the morning of the Fourth, by a break in the mill-pond on the St. Anthony side. A coffer dam was immediately begun across from the head of the island to the shore, which was completed by noon of the same day, shutting all the water off from the St. Anthony pond, and turning it into the main channel of the river. The bed of the pond being thus left dry, afforded every facility for a thorough examination of the progress made by the water. It was found that the break, which began at the sunken pier, extends some ten or twelve feet in width, diagonally across the eastern channel for a considerable distance, making an outlet at the foot of Hennepin Island, below the apron, and crossing the tunnel. As soon as all danger had been averted by the completion of the coffer dam, and thus much of the facts ascertained, a meeting was held, at which many of the leading men of both cities were present. No feeling of despondency was visible, but a resolute purpose to undertake and carry through whatever measures may be found necessary to meet the requirements of this new development. A committee was appointed to make, with the aid of competent engineers, a careful examination of the premises, and report a plan for a thorough and permanent remedy. We feel warranted in saying that ample measures will be taken to meet this new exigency, and to overcome it with as little delay as possible. In the meantime, the St. Anthony Mills are, of course, standing still.

THE BEST TRUSSES IN THE WORLD.

If there is any infirmity that needs care and extra attention it is that of Rupture of the bowels, as there can hardly be any protrusion of them, even for an hour, without endangering life and exposing the patient to imminent peril. We have examined hundreds of persons who have gone all the rounds in the vain endeavor to obtain suitable Trusses to retain their rupture, and without being successful. Not one of these cases but could have been cured in the early stage of rupture, and even after years of neglect many of them can be cured, if they will only make application to some one thoroughly conversant with the malady in question. What, to most persons, is the expense of a few dollars for a well-fitting Truss, properly applied, when in many cases it is the means of saving a life and adding to his comfort for years? The prevailing belief that rupture is incurable has done incalculable mischief by making persons careless with regard to the same; whilst, if they did try to get well, they can certainly be no worse off for having made the attempt. There are so many cases that resemble rupture that we would advise all our readers to make application to a competent establishment, such as Dr. KEYSER'S, 167 Liberty street, where Trusses from two to twenty dollars can be obtained.

MIDSUMMER MALADIES.

The hot solar rays that ripen the harvets generate many distressing diseases. If the liver be at all predisposed to irregularities, this is the season in which billious attacks may be anticipated. A weak stomach, too, is weakest in the summer months, and the loss of vitality through the pores by excessive perspiration is so great, that a wholesome tonic, combining also the properties of a diffusive stimulant and general exhilarant, is in many cases necessary to health, and under no circumstances should be dispensed with by the sickly and debilitated. Of all the preparations intended thus to refresh, sustain, and fortify the human frame, there is none that will compare with Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters. They have been weighed in the balance of experience and not found wanting; have been recommended from the first as a great medicinal specific, not as a beverage, and in spite of interested opposition from innumerable quarters, stand, after a twenty years trial, at the head of all proprietary medicines intended for the prevention and cure of all ordinary complaints of the stomach, the liver, the bowels, and the nerves. In the unhealthy districts bordering the great rivers of the South and West, Hostetter's Bitters may be classed as the standard one for every species of intermittent or remittent fever. The people who inhabit those districts, place the most implicit confidence in the preparation—confidence that is increased every year by the results of its operation.

As bitters, so called, of the most pernicious character, are springing up like fungi on every side, the public is hereby forewarned against the dram-shop frauds. Ask for Hostetter's Bitters, see that the label, etc., are correct, and remember that the genuine article is never sold in bulk, but in bottles only.

7-30 GOLD LOAN
OF THE
Northern Pacific Railroad.
RAPID PROGRESS OF THE WORK.

The building of the Northern Pacific Railroad (begun July last,) is being pushed forward with great energy from both extremities of the line. Several thousand men are employed in Minnesota and on the Pacific coast. The grade is nearly completed 266 miles westward from Lake Superior; trains are running over 130 miles of finished road, and track-laying is rapidly progressing toward the eastern border of Dakota. Including its purchase of the St. Paul & Pacific Road, the Northern Pacific Company now has 413 miles of completed road, and by September next this will be increased to at least 560.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.—Jay Cooke & Co. are now selling, and unhesitatingly recommend as a profitable and perfectly safe investment, the First Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. They have 30 years to run, bear Seven and Three-Tenths per cent. gold interest, (more than 8 per cent. currency) and are secured by first and only mortgage on the ENTIRE ROAD AND ITS EQUIPMENTS, and also, as fast as the road is completed, on 23,000 ACRES OF LAND to every mile of track, or 500 acres for each $1,000 bond. They are exempt from U. S. Tax; principal and interest are payable in gold; Denominations, Coupons, $100 to $1,000; Registered, $100 to $10,000.

LANDS FOR BONDS.—Northern Pacific 7-30's are at all times receivable at TEN PER CENT ABOVE PAR, in exchange for the Company's Lands, at their lowest cash price. This renders them practically INTEREST BEARING LAND WARRANTS.

SINKING FUND.—The proceeds of all sales of Lands are required to be devoted to the re-purchase and cancellation of the First Mortgage Bonds of the Company. The land grant of the Road exceeds Fifty Million Acres. This immense Sinking Fund will undoubtedly cancel the principal of the Company's bonded debt before it falls due. With their ample security and high rate of interest, there is no investment accessible to the people which is more PROFITABLE OR SAFE.

EXCHANGING U. S. FIVE-TWENTIES.—The success of the New Government 5 per cent. Loan will compel the early surrender of United States 6 per cents. Many holders of Five-twenties are now exchanging them for Northern Pacific Seven-Thirties, thus realizing a handsome profit, and greatly increasing their yearly income.

OTHER SECURITIES.—All marketable Stock and Bonds will be received at their highest current prices in exchange for Northern Pacific Seven-Thirties. EXPRESS CHARGES on Money or Bonds received, and on Seven-Thirties sent in return will be paid by the Financial Agents. Full information, maps, pamphlets, etc. can be obtained on application at any agency, or from the undersigned. For sale by

NEW YORK, July 18, 1871.

Gold dull and steady: all transactions at 112⅜@112½. Loans made from 1 to 2 per cent. for carrying. Clearings about $34,000,000.

Governments firm and a fraction higher. Business light.

The stock market has been more active to-day but feverish in consequence of the decline in Northwest and St. Paul which is said to be caused by disagreement between these two companies, which may result in their building parallel lines to Milwaukee and other points. Some parties believe that this will result in benefit to the preferred stock of both roads as the companies would sell the common stock for building the new lines. Balance of the list has been strong considering this depression especially for Erie. New York Central and Hudson and Lake Shore. Money easy at 2@3 per cent. In southern securities Tennessee and Missouris very firm. The remainder inactive.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, July 18, 1871.

ASHES—Common Soda ash, 4@4¼; refined, 4½@4¾; Pearls, 9; Pots, 7½; Nitrals Soda, 4½.

BUTTER—Quiet and unchanged. We continue to quote at 12@14c for fair to medium and 15@17c for prime to choice. The receipts are only moderate but the supply seems to be fully up to the demand.

BERRIES—Are coming in freely but with a steady demand prices are well maintained, $1@1.25 per bucket.

BEANS—Prime to choice Navy, $2.00@2.25 per bushel.

BROOM CORN—Sales at 5@7 cts.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 33@35.

CEMENT—Louisville, $2.50@3.00 per bbl. Rosendale, $4.00@4.50; Calcined Plaster, $4.25@4.50.

CANNED GOODS—The demand, as is always the case at this season of the year, is falling off, but the supply is almost exhausted, and the season may be regarded as being about over.

COUNTRY MEAT—There is a fair demand for hams, but shoulders and sides are very dull. Country Lard dull and nominally unchanged at 9@10c.

CHEESE—Is in fair demand and steady, at 10½@11c, for prime Ohio Goshen; 9@9½ for Factory; and 8@8½c for Dairy.

CORN MEAL—Is still quoted in a jobbing way at 80@85 per bushel.

CARBON OIL—Is quiet and unchanged; standard brands, 24 cts, in a jobbing way.

EGGS—Continue dull at least the produce houses all report the market very sluggish though there is no change to make in prices, 15@16c for fresh. The bulk of the offerings consist of old stock and are hard to sell at any price.

FRUITS—There is a continued fair demand for green apples and we can report regular sales at $2@4 per bbl for common to prime. Dried Fruit—very dull, and the season for it is about over. Layer Raisins unchanged, at $3 per box; Valencias, 12½@13 cts per lb. Turkey Prunes, 10; French, 11½@12 cts.

FLOUR—Continues dull and weak and in some instances we hear of slight concessions being made in order to effect sales. We now quote at $6.75 for good spring extras; $7.00@7.10 for choice Minnesota baker's flour; and $7.00@7.25 good to choice red winter wheat. The receipts have been comparatively light for some days past, and the stock in this market must in consequence be considerably reduced.

GRAIN—There is little or no movement in Wheat in this market—not much coming in, and not much inquiry for it; we continue to quote new red at $1.20@1.25 and old at $1.25@1.30—usual advance for white, 7@10 cts per bushel, according to quality and condition. As the receipts have been light for some days past, it is evident that the stock in the hands of millers is pretty well reduced. Oats firm, under the influence of the advance in Chicago, though, as yet, there is no change in prices here; we continue to quote at 60 buying and 63 selling—65@68 for small lots, in store. It is said that at present prices in Chicago they could not be sold here under 64@65; however, it is not probable that the advance in Chicago will be maintained any length of time, as the new crop will soon be ready to move. There is a moderate demand for Corn, with sales of shelled at 68 for mixed and 70 for prime yellow. The receipts of Rye continue very light and there does not seem to be much inquiry for it; cannot be quoted above 90@95—it is alleged that it can be laid down here from Chicago at about 90.

GROCERIES—The market is fairly active, orders are coming in more freely from the country, and the operations in Sugars, both raw and refined, continue large. Coffee is firmer. Molasses, Syrups and Rice quiet and unchanged.

COFFEE—Fancy Rio, 19½; Prime, 18½; Good, 17; Fair, 16½; Roasting, 15½@16.

SYRUPS AND DRIPS—White Honey, 72; Havemyer & Elders, 72; Silver Drips, 60; other grades, 45@55.

SUGARS—Choice New Orleans, 11½; prime, 11½ good, 10½; fully fair, 10½; Porto Rico Sugars, 10½@11½; Cuba, 10@11; Demarara, 11½@12½.

REFINED SUGARS—Hard Sugars, 14; A Coffee, 13; "B," 12¾; Extra C, 12½; C, yellow, 12½.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, choice, 70; prime, 68; good, 65.

TEAS—Fancy Young Hyson, $1 40; Good, $1 10; Fair $1. Lower grades down to 70cts. G. P. Fancy, $1 50; good, $1 25; fair, $1 10; Imperial Fancy, $1 40; good, $1 25; fair, $1; Oolong fancy, $1 25; good, 80cts; fair, 60@70c. Bouchong fancy, $1 20; good, 90c; fair, 70@80c. Japan Fancy, $1; good, 90c; fair, 75c.

SPICES—Grain Pepper, 22c. Pimento, 17c. Clover, 20c. Cassia, 55c.

HAY—Baled continues weak and with liberal receipts and a supply fully up to the demand, prices are barely maintained; we now quote at $21@29, on wharf and track.

HONEY—We can report sales in a regular way at 25@30 cts per lb, for fair to choice.

HIDES—Green Salted, 10½@11½; Green Butcher's, 8@9; Dry Flint, 21@22; Green Calf Skins, 14@15; Green Salted Calf, 17@18.

LIME—Perrysburg white, $2.00@2.25 per bbl; Cleveland $2.25; Eastern, $1.75.

MILL FEED—Dull and unchanged.

ONIONS—In better demand and higher; we now quote at $4 00@4.50 per bbl, for choice.

OIL—Lard Oil (Pittsburgh manufacture) may be quoted at 75. Standard Cincinnati and Chicago brands can be sold here below 78@80.

POTATOES—Continue dull and unchanged, $2.00@2.50 per bbl.

POULTRY—There is considerable inquiry for live chickens, and the market is almost bare; may be quoted at 55@60c for young, and 70@75c for old.

PROVISIONS—Plain Shoulders, 7¾; sugar cured shoulders, 11@11¼; 9@9¾ for ribbed sides, 10@10¼ for clear. Breakfast Bacon, 13¼c plain, and 15 canvassed; sugar cured hams, 16@16½. Lard, 11@11¼ in tcs, and 12@12¼ in kegs, and buckets. Dried Beef, 18@18½. Mess Pork, $17@17.50.

RAGS—Sales, 4@4¼ cts per lb.

SUMAC—Sales Tennessee Sumac at 4½ cts.

WILLOWS—Scarce and firm at 10 cts.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, July 18, 1871.

The oil market continues very dull and presents but little that is new or important. There appears to be but little inquiry for either crude or refined, and, in consequence, there is little or nothing doing; refiners are still holding off, in anticipation of a further decline in crude, but, as is nearly always the case, refined depreciates more rapidly than crude; within the past week the latter has dropped 15 to 20 cts per bbl, while the former has declined from ⅜ to ½ of a cent per gallon, so that the situation in this respect is no better now than it was then, and there is a very general complaint on the part of manufacturers in regard to small margins.

CRUDE.

Seller all year offered at 12; seller July 12¼@12¾; sale 2,000 bbls spot at Parker, at $4.80, the lowest point it has touched for some time.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede at this point with 3 feet 2 inches in channel by pier marks. Cloudy and cool last evening with every appearance of rain.

No arrivals or departurers. Billy Parsons, from Parkersburg, due to-day.

The hull for W. H. Brown's mammoth tow-boat was launched at Freedom yesterday. It is 200 feet in length, 34 feet beam, and 5 feet 10 inches depth of hold. Will have 6 boilers 38 feet long and 40 inches in diameter; cylinders 26 inches in diameter, and 9 feet stroke. The hull is expected to arrive here to-day.

Capt. Ed Evans, formerly of the Kate Putnam, recently of the Exchange, is here on a visit to his family. The Exchange is laid up at Cincinnati.

The Sam Clarke is still aground at Glass House, and she will have to remain there until there is more water.

The Yeager left St. Louis for New Orleans drawing 7½ feet.

Com. W. J. Kountz and his two daughters were to have left St. Louis for Pittsburgh on Monday evening.

Capt. A. M. Hutchinson, recently of the S. S. Merrill, has gone to New Orleans to assume command of the John Kyle.

—Charles M. Scott, while in Washington, dropped into the room occupied by the supervising inspectors of steamboats, whom he addressed in a half-hour's speech, giving his opinion upon various subjects. Mr. Scott believes the chief remedy for the frequent occurrence of steamboat disasters is the licensing of steamboat commanders. If, says Mr. Scott, the commander is competent, he will have competent subordinates. As illustration of this he refers to the steamboating career of two deceased captains of Mississippi boats, John C. Swon and Billy Forsyth, and two still living—Tom Leathers and John Cannon. Of course, he could name many others, dead and living, but these will serve as an illustration of his argument. He wants the commanders and mates to be licensed, as well as the pilots and engineers. Whatever efforts he has made or may make, to bring about this requirement are not made as the agent of any pilots' association, but solely on his own responsibility, and for the good of his class and the public in general.—Cin. Gazette.

—In St. Louis, on Thursday, the tax collector levied upon the marine railway and dry docks at Carondelet for taxes amounting to $800. Seventy-five thousand feet of lumber were taken. The company claim exemption from taxation under a contract with the former city of Carondelet. Deputies went down to levy upon the Kingsland iron works for tax bills amounting to $8,000, but the company paid up under protest, and were let alone.

—Colonel Abert is now near the headquarters of the Cumberland, engaged in making surveys preparatory to improving that stream, in accordance with the act of congress appropriating $30,000 for the purpose. We understand that he has divided his force into two separate parties, and that they are descending the river.

—They are still collecting the old wharfage tax at Memphis, notwithstanding the bill for its reduction was passed nearly two weeks ago. Steamboatmen are complaining, and will either pay nothing or give the city something in a legal way.

—The Rose Hite, Morning Star and Tarascon will hereafter make regular trips from Louisville to Owensboro, and the Palestine will make daily trips from Evansville to Owensboro, connecting with the boats at Louisville.

—The R. R. Hudson has laid up at Wheeling. She will not resume her place in the Cincinnati trade until there is more water. She will receive a complete overhauling, and some needed repairs, before going into business again.

—The snagboat Zebra has removed the huge snag which has been lying in front of Wheeling near the wharfboat for the past two years. The snag has been a very aggravating one, and steamboatmen will appreciate its removal.

—Capt. Wm. Thompson, late of the John Kyle, has been appointed by Commodore Carter to the command of the H. M. Shreve, and James Yore, late of the Mary E. Forsythe, has taken charge of the office of same boat.

—Capt. J. H. Brinker contracted for the hull of his new steamer at Louisville Saturday. She will be 175 feet long, 38 feet beam, and 5½ feet hold, and have a full-length cabin.

—The Julia was driven by a severe storm below Greenville, Mississippi, three or four miles down the river on a sand bar, breaking her rudder and sustaining other slight injuries.

—Immediately on the close of the canal a line of light-draught steamers will take their place as regular packets to points below on the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers.

—The smoke-stacks of the Mollie Poe, lying at St. Joe, were blown off during the wind storm Thursday night.

—Jim Matheney has placed light on the Grand Chain, to enable steamers to pass safely over.

—The Tom Farrow passed by Cincinnati on Saturday with a tow of empty barges.

GRATES.

Keep Your Houses Clean,

AND

BY USING THE

Wellman Patent Reflector

STOVE AND GRATE,

Which Stand Without a Rival.

The WELLMAN STOVE is furnished with the "REFLECTOR GRATE," and possesses all the advantages of an open fire place; it is specially adapted to houses where the flues are too small to admit a grate, and affords all the comforts of a CHEERFUL OPEN FIRE.

1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity of any other grate.

2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—no soot or ashes escaping into the room—which, in the ordinary Grate, prove so detrimental to carpets and furniture.

3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.

4th. As an economizer of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.

5th. It is highly ornamental.

6th. It is set so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.

7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.

Samples may be seen and references had at the store of W. BARNES, corner Third avenue and Market street, Pittsburgh; W. F. GOODWIN, 66 Federal street, Allegheny, or at the FOUNDRY, corner Duquesne Way and Water street, Pittsburgh.

Parties who are building, or who contemplate changing Grates are respectfully requested to examine "The Wellman." Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases.

Row in Virgin Alley.—About half past twelve o'clock this morning the notorious Kate Welsh rushed from her domicil in Virgin alley, and loudly called the watch. The guardians of the peace in that locality promptly responded to the call, and upon entering the house they found that one Wm. Divine had taken possession of the premises. It appeared that William and Kate had indulged in a fight and that Divine came off conqueror. Both were arrested and locked up, and quiet again reigned in "Tinpot."

"Homestead."—From present indications the population of this new suburb will comprise the very choicest element of society. Rising business and professional men of moderate means, first class mechanics, clerks, and many young married couples just beginning in the world, who have sense enough to know that they can live healthier, happier and cheaper in such a locality than in the crowded city, and know also that nine-tenths of all the wealth in the country came into the hands of those who have it by the increase in value of just such property as the "Homestead" lots.

Very Slight Fire.—The alarm of fire about eight o'clock last evening, communicated from box 16, was caused by the discovery of smoke issuing from a second story window in the warehouse of P. Duff & Sons, dealers in produce, No. 124 Second avenue. Ladders were speedily procured, and some men entered the building through a window. In one corner of a room in the second story they found a blaze ascending from a crock of butter. The flames had also reached two barrels of apples, which were destroyed. One or two buckets of water extinguished the fire, and the loss is very trifling, probably not more than ten dollars. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Temperance.

The regular weekly meeting of the Young Men's Temperance Society was held last evening in their hall, Duquesne Way. In the absence of President Carr, Rev. Warren Long occupied the Chair, with Rev. W. H. Knox acting as Secretary. Minutes of previous meeting read and approved. After some preliminary business able addresses were made by Messrs. Rabe, Scheiner and Lord. The meeting adjourned at 9 oclock after benediction by Rev. W. Long.

We are glad to be able to state that great success has followed this society during its past history. One thousand and twenty-four names are now inscribed on its roll. Its members propose to prosecute the good work vigorously during the coming season.

To the City and County Treasurers.

It is suggested by a workingman that our City and County Treasurers should keep their offices open at night at least once a week, for a brief season, in order to afford the laboring classes an opportunity to pay their taxes without loss of time. Under the present arrangement, the offices of the Treasurers closing about five o'clock in the afternoon, a workingman must incur the loss of an entire day in paying his taxes. The rule in a majority of the workshops is, we are informed, that when an employee absents himself during any portion of the day—in working hours—he is "docked" the entire day's wages. Again, with the present great dimensions of our city, there are many residing at so great a distance from the offices of the Treasurers that they could not make the necessary trip without great loss of time.

Now, it is suggested that Treasurers Denison and Cochran appoint a certain night in the week on which their offices will be kept open for the purpose already indicated. Saturday night would be the most convenient for workingmen, and if the officials named should conclude to act upon the above request, let them make that intention known through the newspapers. We think that, besides doing a favor to the workingmen, they would greatly facilitate the collection of the taxes, by adopting our laboring friend's suggestion.

The Poor House Contracts.

The action of the Board of Allegheny Poor Directors, at their meeting on Monday evening, on the subject of letting the contracts for the carpenter work on the Poor House, has given great dissatisfaction, and we think, not without good reason. Bids were asked for, and seven or eight parties responded, the proposals varying from $40,000 to $60,000. Mr. Creighton, the lowest bidder, after being notified that the contract would be awarded to him, declined to accept it at his bid. Mr. Murdock was the next, and claiming that he made some mistake or misunderstood the matter in some way, also declined to accept the contract at the bid he put in. Mr. Chambers, the third lowest bidder, refused also to accept, and claimed that the architect had misled him in some way as to portions of the specifications. Calhoun and White, the next lowest bidders, then claimed that the job should be awarded to them, and we think so too, if we have been correctly informed.

The specifications for the work were submitted to the inspection of all of the gentlemen wishing to make proposals for doing the work, and conversations with the architect or with any one else surely should not have been permitted to lead any one into a misunderstanding.

The point on which Messrs. Calhoun and White rest their claim for the contract is simply this—that they were the lowest bidders for doing the work under the specifications, and we think the work should be given to them, if this statement is correct.

We understand that the Board have asked for new proposals, but this appears to us manifestly unfair and impracticable—unfair to all parties, as their bids have been made known, and impracticable because the best bidders—those who after making a bid are willing to stand by it, give the necessary bond and complete the work—are unwilling to again enter the lists as competitors, as they have no assurance that they will not again be treated in the same way as before. It is no small work to make up one of these bids, amounting to many thousands of dollars and requiring intricate and lengthy measurements and figuring, and it is asking too much of our mechanics to go over this work a second time. Besides, the lowest bidders in this case have made their calculations and stated what sum they wanted for doing the work, and will make no change from this amount. Therefore the new bidders have but to name an amount less than theirs in order to secure the job. We are clearly of the opinion that the contract should be awarded to the lowest bidder, under the specifications, which is the firm of Calhoun and White, who are perfectly reliable and responsible. We hope the Board, in justice to these gentlemen, will reconsider their action, as we think they have done wrong, no doubt unintentionably.

We have the greatest respect for the gentlemen composing this Board and think they are incapable of doing an unjust, or ungenerous act, but we still think, that in this case they have acted hastily and unadvisedly.

THE GRAY CASE.

More Agitation and Nothing Accomplished—Trial Finally Expected Yesterday—Another Disappointment—A Secret Session, and "Indefinite Postponement" the Result—The Outlook for the Future.

"Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce" seems in a measure to have a counterpart in the case of the Rev. Jno. A. Gray, which for so many months has afforded a theme for gossipy speculation and sensation, and has furnished such interesting revealings of the peculiar sinuosities, in some cases, of ecclesiastical law. At times, it is true, some new development seemed to indicate the lifting of the matter from the monotony into which everything connected with it apparently settled, but then disappointment was sure to follow and the anxious inquirer after truth found nothing but unrealized expectations, and so the "Gray case," as the phraseology now familiarly goes, at last excited apparently but little attention. Public interest, however, had not all died out, and hence when the announcement was recently made, coupled with emphatic assurances which gave official significance to it, that the case would come up for final trial on "the 18th," yesterday, there was a slight revival of expectations and those who had almost concluded that the truth never would be revealed in an "investigation" were inclined to look forward with other anticipations to the coming on of the trial "on the new charges," as it was styled. Well, yesterday came, "the 18th" and has passed away and the case remains as it was before the eventful period arrived. To understand clearly just what that means perhaps it would be well to go back in review a little, commencing with as it was called, on the charges sent up to Conference, which was fixed for April 25th, 1871, before Dr. D. L. Dempsey, Presiding Elder, and a Committee of Nine called by him. After two days' wrangling the case broke down, the prosecution refusing to produce any testimony because Dr. Dempsey ruled out a part of the charges sent down from Conference, and the complainants believed that under his rulings nearly all their testimony would be excluded. Six of the Committee refused to render any verdict; the other three rendered a verdict of "not guilty" without having had any testimony before them.

Notice was then given publicly in the presence of Mr. Gray and his counsel, that a new bill of charges had been prepared, and that a trial would be demanded and the case be prepared for a proper hearing at the next Conference.

Immediately after this the friends of Mr. Gray, it is said, made an effort to have the matter fixed up without a trial. They proposed to exonerate the complainants from all blame in the matter and to admit that Mr. Gray had been guilty of very great imprudence, if they (the complainants) would stop the prosecution and consent to Mr. Gray's transfer to another Conference. The complainants insisted, however, that it was due to themselves and to the church that the testimony in the case should be procured and be submitted to the proper authorities. They proposed taking the testimony by depositions, and submitting that to the committee, and then leaving the entire responsibility of the case with them. This was refused, and hence all efforts at an amicable arrangement for a hearing in the case failed.

THE NEW BILL OF CHARGES

was then prepared and forwarded to Dr. Dempsey on the 3d of May, for his examination, that he might make any desired suggestions in regard to it before it was signed. Three or four weeks passed away, and finally, by request, the bill was returned. Dr. Dempsey made no alterations, but at his suggestion a part of the charges were stricken out, because they contained the names of other parties who had been innocent witnesses of some of the alleged indiscretions or immoralities. The bill was then remodeled, and all the charges and specifications were arranged under the one head of "Immoralities." This new bill we have seen, but under the present circumstances, in justice to all parties, deem it unwise to reproduce here. Suffice it to say that the charges are eleven in number, and more severe in their allegations than those presented at the former "trial," or whatever that fiasco might be designated. They are direct and specific, and under the most stringent ruling would doubtless come within the bounds of ecclesiastical law.

It should be mentioned here, that during the discussion in regard to a compromise, and pending the formal presentation of the charges a proposition was made by the prosecution for an upon terms which are contained in the following letter:

PITTSBURGH, May 18, 1871.

REV. S. H. NESBIT, D. D.

DEAR SIR:—When the complainants refused to go on with the investigation on the charges against Rev. John A. Gray, because of the rulings of the Presiding Elder, I, as their counsel gave public notice, in the presence of Mr. Gray and his counsel, of the Presiding Elder, of the Committee of nine and the others present, that a new bill of charges had been prepared and would be submitted, and a fair and full investigation demanded. That bill was with held for several days in consequence of the efforts of Mr. Gray's friends to make some adjustment of the case. I was appealed to, as you well know, by several of his friends and by yourself as his counsel, to let the matter drop and to let Mr. Gray get a transfer to another conference. As an amicable mode of adjusting the matter, I proposed to you and to Dr. Dempsey to take the depositions of our witnesses on the "Fourth avenue affair;" you cross-examining, then you take your depositions, we waiving a cross-examination and all rebutting testimony, and submit the depositions to the Committee of nine for such action as they might think proper. This proposition was declined, although Dr. Dempsey thought it was very fair. I then sent Dr. Dempsey, on the 3d inst., the bill of charges I had prepared, for his inspection and requesting him to make any correction if they were not in proper shape, before they would be signed. He retained them till last Monday, the 15th inst., and by his request they have not been signed till now, and by his request the complainants have taken no decided steps in the matter since the 3d inst. And on last Monday, when he returned the bill to me, he requested me not to have it signed for a few days till he could see you and hear from Mr. Hopkins, who was out of the city, and to whom he had written.

In the meantime several articles have appeared in the city papers, misrepresenting the proposition I made to you, and misrepresenting the position of the complainants and their counsel.

The new bill of charges is now signed and is in my possession, ready to be delivered to Dr. Dempsey. I have so written to him. I retain it till I can hear from him because of his request above mentioned. The bill embraces some other matters beside the "Fourth avenue affair," which alone was embraced in the former bill.

The only object of the complainants and the only object I have had, is to get the testimony before the proper authorities of the church. We will then feel that we have done our duty, and the responsibility of the case will rest where it should—with the ministers of the church.

THE TERMS.

For this purpose and in the hope of agreeing upon an amicable mode of getting that testimony, I, now, as counsel for complainants, make the following proposition to you as counsel of Mr. Gray, and through you to him:

1—Let us take the depositions of our witnesses in relation to what is called the "Fourth avenue affair;" you having the right of cross-examination.

2—The defendant may take what depositions he pleases, or use those he has already taken.

3—Let Dr. Dempsey call together the committee of nine or appoint a new committee, as he may think proper.

4—The depositions to be submitted to such committee, upon the old charge or upon new ones we may present, or without any formal charges, as the defendant may prefer, then the committee to take such action or make such decision in the case as they may think right and proper.

5—The complainants will not press the matter further; but Mr. Gray shall be free to take such further or other action in the case as he may think best for himself in either the ecclesiastical or civil courts.

This proposition is submitted in good faith. It is certainly as far as the warmest friend of Mr. Gray could ask. It is yielding one half the case of the complainants. But if Mr. Gray prefers a full and thorough examination of the whole matter, we are ready for that. In that event, however, I hope he will not interpose technicalities to defeat a complete investigation at a future hearing.

Respectfully yours,
J. W. F. WHITE.

This proposition was held under advisement for a few days and then verbally refused; and the prosecution then proceeded with the case.

The bill having thus been carefully prepared, and as we understand being shown to the parties on either side was former complainants and placed in the hands of Dr. Dempsey, and a copy sent to the accused at Buffalo. Notice however was returned by Mrs. Gray from Buffalo, that Mr. Gray was absent from home and that she could not tell when word could be sent him. Upon receipt of this intelligence Dr. Dempsey fixed July 11th, as the time for the trial, and wrote to Mr. Gray, whose address he had obtained, to that effect. In reply Mr. Gray stated it was impossible for him to be present at the time—the 11th—as he was then in Kansas and so situated as to be unable to be in Pittsburgh at that time. The trial was then postponed until the 18th. The former counsel of the accused, Dr. Nesbitt and Mr. Hopkins it is said were also notified of the first day fixed and subsequently of the postponement.

It is claimed here by the complainants or prosecution that the matter was talked over and an understanding arrived at that if the trial did not come off on the 18th, they should have the privilege of taking testimony—the other side to be present—in order that the witnesses might not be compelled to come again. In pursuance of this agreement they so notified the witnesses.

About a week ago word was again received from Mr. Gray that it would be impossible for him to be present on the 18th and a although no time was given when he could be ready. Dr. Dempsey thought it well to accede to this request for a second postponement, and consulted complainants, but they through their counsel refused to agree and notified him that they would insist at least upon taking the testimony of their witnesses, as they had been at considerable expense in bringing them on, and some of the witnesses might not be able to be present at another time. Dr. Nesbitt and Mr. Hopkins said they had not been retained by Mr. Gray, as his counsel in the trial on the new charges and they therefore declined to act until officially notified to do so by him. Thus they refused to have notice served on them and notice of the determination to take testimony was again sent to Mr. Gray,—the prosecution insisting that under the circumstances this was the smallest privilege that could be accorded them. Thus matters rested as the day of trial drew near.

POSTPONEMENT WAS ASKED

In the truest sense of the term it can be said that there was a limited attendance of interested parties or curiosity seekers yesterday morning. Ten o'clock had been fixed upon as the hour for the trial, and this church as the place, but at the designated time there was no crowd, clerical or otherwise, as upon the former occasion, gathered about the door. Exteriorly everything betokened happy peace, and a tranquility like a summer cloud seemed to hover over the neighborhood. The deception that all was quiet would not either have been exposed by a careless saunter through that part of the church, which seemed open to inspection, and the uninitiated visitor might have gone through and returned to the outer world again and yet have known nothing of the scenes, or rather consolidated scene of excitements, within the hallowed precincts of the temple of worship. Indeed the air of supreme peace which seemed to rest upon and pervade the peace exteriorly and interiorly, induced a shade of disappointment to sadden for a few moments, the usually cheerful spirit of a journalist who wended his way thither, note book in hand, in quest of information. Entering through the vestibule from Penn street, and passing into the beautiful Sunday school room, which seemed yet to contain some of the melody and joyfulness which marked the "reopening" occasion last Sabbath, he essayed to gain intelligence by interviewing a young member of the church who was enjoying the beauty and fragrance of the flowers decorating the fountain, and who suddenly started at the inquiry:

"Well, have they commenced yet?"

"Oh, ah. How's that." Evidently not comprehending.

"The Gray trial. Where are they?"

"I don't know. Are they at it to-day?"

"Why yes; in this church too, somewhere."

"That's strange. Isn't it a mistake?"

"Dr. Dempsey and some preachers are in that corner room," remarked a young gentleman whose presence had not been known before. His information was thankfully received, journalistic spirits resumed their wonted serenity and next engaged attention.

The meeting organized within was a "secret" one, in the sense that none but privileged parties were admitted, but it was not too secret to prevent us from giving our readers a synopsis of the proceedings. The assemblage consisted of the Presiding Elder, Dr. Dempsey, the counsel for the complainants—Dr. C. A. Holmes, of Sewickley, clerical, and J. F. White, Esq., legal, the four complainants, Messrs. Coffee, Hoffstot, Little and Moorhead, together with a couple of ministers. No counsel for the accused appeared; he was not present himself and no one claimed to represent him. There was no Committee present, and apparently no preparations had been made for a trial,—some perhaps by the prosecution, some of whose witnesses had by this time collected in one of the class-rooms, waiting to be called.

Devotional exercises were first in order, and then the business which had been the cause of the assembling was announced.

Mr. White, for the complainants, said they were ready for the trial.

Dr. Dempsey said they would have to postpone the trial.

Mr. White then wanted to know if they could take their testimony.

Dr. Dempsey thought it would be improper and illegal, because no notice had been given to Dr. Gray to that effect.

Further, Mr. Gray had no counsel present.

MR. WHITE SPEAKS.

Mr. White said enough notices had been sent—whether they were received or not. He had understood also that Dr. Dempsey was to notify Mr. Gray, as he was in duty bound to do. He was disgusted at the manner in which the "trial" was conducted. The prosecution had done everything in their power to get the testimony in the case before the Church and authorities, but had failed. They had the witnesses present to substantiate their charges. Mr. Gray and his friends had persistently refused to make any arrangement for a fair and full hearing of the case. The whole effort of the defense seemed to be to delay, vex and harrass. It was almost impossible for the complainants to follow Mr. Gray in his wanderings to serve notices upon him. His friends here, and his former counsel, refused to agree to anything, and refused to be considered his counsel so as to serve any notices upon them. They now considered they had done their full duty in the case, in trying to get the testimony before the proper church authorities. The Conference had directed Dr. Dempsey to investigate this case, and the complainants considered it his duty to do so. They now furnished him with the charges and with the witnesses to substantiate them. They therefore considered they were under no further obligations under the action of the Conference. He had acted in this matter wholly

FROM A SENSE OF DUTY.

It had been an exceedingly unpleasant business. But he was willing to perform it for the sake of the church. His examination of the case left no doubt in his mind of Mr. Gray's guilt. He thought the interests of the church and the cause of religion required that the evidence in the case should be taken and given to the church. This the complainants were determined to do. Then their responsibility in the case would cease. He would, therefore, take the necessary steps for taking the testimony in such form as to be presented to the next Conference. He thought Dr. Dempsey was in duty bound, under the action of the last Conference, to investigate this case. He would leave the responsibility with him so far as a trial before a Committee was concerned. He (Mr. White)—might, or might not, appear before a future committee. Dr. Dempsey could pursue such course as he deemed proper for himself in the case, and he, (Mr. White,) would do what he deemed his duty.

The legal gentleman warmed up as he spoke, which was not owing altogether to the heat of the weather, and to speak mildly was quite animated in his address, which had an inspiriting effect upon his auditors.

Rev. Mr. Holmes followed in a few remarks in which he claimed that the prosecution had not been treated fairly. They had been dilly dallied about, and now after bringing in one case a witness from Philadelphia, and preparing in other respects they could not go on with the trial. He did not admire such a method of doing business. He insisted that at least the depositions should at once be taken.

Dr. Dempsey still contended, as Mr. Gray was not present, that such a proceeding might not have as full a color of law as it should have. He thought a postponement the best method.

The discussion then assumed a semi-colloquial form, and eventually Dr. Dempsey so far receded from his position as to agree to of Mr. Gray and if possible arrange a compromise whereby the depositions of such witnesses as came from a distance could at once be taken.

In pursuance of this arrangement an adjournment was had until two o'clock in the afternoon—Mr. White's office on Fifth avenue being agreed upon as the rendezvous. The morning conference continued less than an hour, but the brevity of the session was compensated for in the liveliness of the proceedings.

Two o'clock came and with it the answer that no compromise could be effected—consequently no depositions could be taken according to Dr. Dempsey's ruling, and thus the case went over without further ceremony, and so the matter stands at present.

It is now almost certain that there will be no trial or investigation until the meeting of Conference, which takes place in the North avenue M. E. Church, Allegheny, next March. Then the case will go through a regular trial—which is generally before a committee in secret session—and an ending made of it.

WHAT IS PROPOSED.

Preparatory to this the prosecution will, they say, serve notices directly upon Mr. Gray, if he can be found, and will accordingly take depositions at the legal time, which depositions will be presented to Conference.

The whereabouts of Mr. Gray at present unknown. When last heard from he was at Topeka, Kansas. So far as is known, he had selected no counsel for his trial on the latter charges, and the former counsel felt a delicacy about taking up the matter without notification from him. No reason has been given officially for his absence when cited to appear. It is said he is preparing to defend himself vigorously, but when he will be ready is not known.

So our readers have before them the facts, and the present status of this peculiar case, totally devoid of rumor so far as we are able to judge, and from these all may draw their own conclusions.

A VISIT TO THE MARKET.

What we Saw and How we were Pleased With It—A Word Concerning its Condition and Appearance—The Prices of Some Commodities.

It is one of the most essential requisites to the health of any community that they have good food to eat. If they are fed on meat that is in an advanced state of decomposition, or fruit that is unripe, it is very evident that they cannot remain in health. Or if their food does not partake of that characteristic which is said to be next unto godliness, the eating of it will be entirely incompatible with the health of the partaker. Impressed with this belief, and filled with a growing alarm at the increasing mortality of our city, we visited the market last evening. We took a general survey of the entire market-place, and inquired as minutely as we dared—for the common presumption that a reporter's assurance is unlimited is incorrect—into the condition of affairs and the prices of marketable commodities generally.

We must say, that, in our opinion, the market and the Market House are kept in very good condition. The Pittsburgh Market House is not perhaps so well arranged as it might be, or as it would be, if it were to be rebuilt; but the persons occupying it, and those having it in charge, have evidently made the best they could of it, and it makes a good appearance.

THE MEAT STALLS,

which take up the greater portion of the building, are kept neat and clean, and the arrangements for keeping the meats sweet and fresh, are apparently of the best order. There is no material change in the meat market as regards prices, which are not high, and the supply on hand is quite ample. Prices of meats are as follows:

Choice steak, per lb., 18 to 25 cts.
Mutton and lamb chops, per lb., 18 to 25 cts.
Pork steak, per lb., 12 to 15 cts.
Veal cutlets, " 20 to 25 cts.
Cut hams, " 20 to 25 cts.
Dried Beef, " 25c.
Beef, " 8 to 15c.
Mutton, " 8 to 15c.
Pork, " 10 to 12c.
Sausages, " 20c.
Breakfast bacon, per lb., 15 to 20c.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

seem to be quite plenty and in good demand, the continual warnings of the papers, concerning the danger to be feared from this source, to the contrary notwithstanding. Everything about the fruit stalls is neat and tidy, if we except one or two stands at which a very light business is transacted. Blackberries are very plenty, and find ready sale at from twelve to fifteen cents per quart, the buyers no doubt understanding that they are at present the most wholesome fruit in market. Pears are becoming quite plenty, and can be had at from three to three and a half dollars per bushel, or by the quarter peck measure at twenty-five cents. Plums are beginning to come in and are sold at about the same rates. Plenty of peaches at from three dollars to three dollars and twenty-five cents per box, and by the small measure at the same prices as pears. Apples per bushel one dollar and seventy-five cents. Gooseberries per qt. 12½c. Green corn is becoming very plenty and meets with ready sale at forty cents per doz. but much of it is immature and unfit for use. Tomatos are plentier at $3 to $3,50 per bushel or 25cts per quarter peck.

Cabbages per head, 5 to 10c.
Cucumbers per dozen 40c.
Beets, per dozen 40c.
Beans per peck 15 to 35c.
Potatoes per bu 75c to $1,25.
Onions per bu. $2.

Summer squashes are becoming plenty and sell at from 15 to 25 cents each.

On the whole, we think that our market as to price and quality of commodities, as well as to neatness and cleanliness will compare favorably with that of most cities. And yet, we would advise our friends who visit it to purchase the necessities and luxuries of the kitchen and the dining table, to use discretion in making their purchases, as among a great deal of good there is much bad and there are plenty of dealers ready and waiting to palm off decayed or immature fruit, putrefying meat and rotten or unripe vegetables on unsuspecting purchasers.

THE McCABE CONTESTED WILL.

Further Testimony Before the Register—Cross-Examination of Mr. Ihmsen—Testimony of Dr. Tindle and Miss Rose McCabe, the Adopted Daughter of Decedent.

The hearing of the McCabe contested will case was resumed yesterday morning, before Register Gray.

The cross-examination of D. Ihmsen, was resumed as follows:

Q—You are, I believe, President of the City Bank. A—Yes sir.

Q—Was Mr. McCabe connected in any way with that bank? A—He was.

Q—When do you hold your annual elections? A—In January.

Q—Was Mr. McCabe's stock voted January last? A—Can't say; I was not at the election myself.

Q—That bank declared dividends in January, 1870 and 1871? A—Mr. McCabe's stock consists in 50 shares; dividends were declared in July, 1870; I can't say whether Mr. McCabe drew his dividends himself in July, 1870; I rather think he did'nt.

Q—Was not the pencil draft codicil prepared two or three weeks after the death of Mrs. McCabe, instead of two or three days? A—I think not.

Q—Do you not recollect that about two weeks after the death of Mrs. McCabe, when you and Mr. Quigley and Father Hickey were together in Mr. McCabe's room, this pencil draft and codicil were prepared, and was it not Father Hickey's and not in your handwriting? A—I think it was not later than three days after the funeral of Mrs. McCabe that we were there, and the writing on the envelope was in my own hand; these were the persons present; I think the handwriting of the first will is in the hand of Father Hickey; my handwriting does not resemble that of Father Hickey.

Q—By whom was the codicil written out in ink? A—I wrote it.

Q—Was it ever attached to the original will? A—It was not.

Q—Why was not the codicil written on the same sheet as, or attached to, the original will? A—I did not think it was necessary, is the only reason I can give.

Q—Where is the codicil now? A—I think I have it still among my papers; I carried it so long it became worn, and I became careless about it, thinking it was of no use.

Q—About how many lines did this codicil occupy, written out? A—I could hardly say; it occupied over half a page of foolscap.

Q—Why was not this codicil drawn out at length and executed at the time the pencil draft was prepared? A—I was engaged, and did not prepare the codicil for two or three days. I cannot say why it was not done in Mr. McCabe's room; I was in a hurry to get away and did not think it necessary to write it in the room. I thought Mr. McCabe's mind was clear that day; we were in the room a half or three quarters of an hour. It was a very short time after we went into the room that the subject of the codicil was broached.

Q—Did Mr. McCabe ever agree to sign such a codicil as contained in the pencil draft? A—He agreed to sign the pencil draft; I read it over to him; he said he would sign it whenever I had it written out. There was never but one pencil draft drawn to my knowledge.

Q—Why did you not return the draft of the codicil with the will to Mr. McCabe? A—I did not think it necessary; the will was in an envelope sealed: I had the codicil in my pocket. I am not certain that the envelope in which I retained the will was the one that has the pencil draft, or some one that I had in my pocket. I had the impression that the envelope upon which the pencil draft was written was the envelope in which the will was sealed, and upon reflection, I do not think I had the will in my pocket.

Q—Do you not recollect that the first will was in the hands of Father Hickey, and opened in Mr. McCabe's room on the day this pencil draft was prepared? A—If it was it has entirely escaped my memory.

Q—Was this will sealed up in an envelope when you returned it to Mr. McCabe? A—It was.

Q—Was not the envelope cut open at the end? A—I think not.

Q—When did you receive or see this first will? A—I received it on the day it was executed—the 14th day of February, 1870. The will was sealed up when it came into my possession; I cannot say who handed it to me—whether Mr. McCabe or Father Hickey; I think it was handed back to Mr. McCabe in the same envelope in which I received it; I read this will previous to the time of Mr. McCabe's death, and after the time I returned it to him; I received this will the second time from the Rev. Father Hickey.

Q—Are you positive that you were alone at the time you returned this will to Mr. McCabe? A—I am very positive that Father Hickey, Mr. Quigley and Mr. OConnor were not in the room when I handed the will to Mr. McCabe; cannot say who were in the room; I do not know what day of the month it was; it was in the month of June. Mr. McSwiggen drove Mr. McCabe down to my place of business that day; I had the will locked up in a tin box in our vault at the warehouse, where we usually kept private papers. The warehouse is the place of business where Mr. McCabe drove to.

Q—When you took the will out of your safe for the purpose of returning it, did you go directly to Mr. McCabe's house? A—No, sir, I did not go direct; I stopped at Father Hickey's room to get him to go over along, and he declined going. I went directly from Father's Hickey's room to Mr. McCabe's. I did not know the contents of the will in detail at the time I returned it to Mr. McCabe. I had heard that he had left his daughter Annie $10,000 and his wife $20,000. Father Hickey intimated to me that he had made this disposition; he did not tell my anything about the balance.

Q—At the time of the conversation between yourself, Mr. McSwiggen and Father Hickey, in regard to the two wills, what did Father Hickey say about the witnesses to the second will as being interested? [Objected to because Father Hickey has not been examined in the case, and the testimony is wholly irrelevant.] A—I believe his remark was, as far as he understood the nature of wills, interested parties could not be witnesses.

Q—At this conversation, when discussing the question as to which will should be probated, did you not tell Mr. McSwiggen, to remark in his presence, that even if the first will was probated he should still have the benefit of the $2,500 bequeathed to him in the second, or words to that effect? A—No, sir, I did not; I had no authority, and did not use words to that effect; I never used any expressions of that kind. One of the witnesses to the first will stated to me that Mr. McSwiggen ought to be well paid, and that $2,500 was not too much. I did not hear any one say that Mr. McSwiggen would have it in his own hands and would pay himself.

Q—Did you not, when you took Mr. McSwiggen to Mr. Mitchell's office and introduced him, say to Mr. McSwiggen, "Anything you say here is sacred as the confessional; a lawyer occupies the same position with respect to his client as a priest to a penitent," or words to that effect? A—I introduced Mr. McSwiggen to Mr. Mitchell at his office; I never made use of any such language, either in Mr. Mitchell's office or any other place.

DR. TINDLE RECALLED.

Dr. Tindle was recalled and testified as follows:

Q—What do you understand by sound and disposing mind and memory? A—I would understand that a man would know what he had done and what he was doing; to anticipate what he was doing and recollect what he had done.

Q—Do you mean to say that Mr. McCabe could recollect nothing? A—No, sir. It was not simply the shock of Mrs. McCabe's death that caused the increase of Mr. McCabe's mental disease, but the excitement attendant upon her death. In describing Mr. McCabe's condition, I omitted to mention that on the slightest emotion he would burst into tears, which is a marked symptom of softening of the brain.

Q. Is it not characteristic of this disease to be greatly aggravated by excitement? A. It is; any excitement, visiting of strangers, &c.

Q. What led you to conclude that Mr. McCabe's mental condition resulted from softening of the brain, and not from hydrocephalous? A. The early history of the case and the fact that hydrocephalous very rarely occurs in adults, and in Mr. McCabe's case there was the predisposing cause to produce the softening of the brain.

Q—What do you refer to as the early history of the disease, and what the pre-supposing cause? A—The early history of the disease, the excessive use of stimulants; the presupposing cause, the stomach became enfeebled so that it failed to respond to the use of stimulants, and thereby the brain became enfeebled. I made one visit to him during the month of July, 1870—the 18th. I was under the impression that I had visited Mr. McCabe at least once a month from the commencement of his sickness until his death, but I find I did not visit him professionally, although I had seen him in the meantime from the 18th of July 1870, to March 14th 1871. I did not visit Mr. McCabe for the reason that I could do him no good; I felt it to be a matter of honor not to run a bill on him; I visited Mr. McCabe in the month of June, 3d, 10th, 14th, 21st and 29th. I visited him in May, 1st, 3d, 5th, 7th, 10th, 14th, 18th, 20th and 21st; I made frequent visits from the 20th to the 31st; the great frequency of the visits were on account of Mr. McCabe, and saw Mr. McCabe every time that I called. Dropsy was more the result of the enfeebled condition of the body; my intention was to relieve him in every way that I could, physically and mentally; I considered it a hopeless task to try to improve his mental condition; I did not consider the improvement of his physical condition hopeless; his physical condition was improved; at one time he was not able to move his limbs; my impression is that his mind was in an enfeebled condition all along.

MISS ROSE M'CABE TESTIFIES.

Rose McCabe, sworn—I have lived with Mr. McCabe since I was four years old; I lived in his family in the relation of his adopted daughter; I now reside with Mrs. Rodgers, in Birmingham, No. 48 Tenth street; I lived with Mr. McCabe until his death, and about four weeks after his death Annie McCabe sent me away, and told me I would have to make my own living, that she was going to get married, and her husband could not afford to keep me; Michael McSwiggen, Annie McCabe and the servant girl were living at Mr. McCabe's house when I left; Annie did not tell me who she was going to marry; there was no person paying attention to her at that time, as I saw; I never recollect of Mr. McCabe sending for Mr. McSwiggen; he used to come to see Mr. McCabe every day during his first illness, and Mrs. MCabe asked him to stay all night. He staid that night, and staid on till the present time. Annie and I generally washed and dressed Mr. McCabe; we took him his meals; when Mr. McSwiggen was not collecting rents he was sitting up stairs reading the newspapers to Mr. McCabe; he had a pretty easy time. I was there after the death of Mrs. McCabe until the death of Mr. McCabe.

Q—State whether at any time, when McCabe was drinking a glass of ale, he asked about his wife after her death, and what he said? [Objected to as leading.] A—Sometimes he would ask for his wife after her death. He would say, "Is she sleeping?" I cannot recollect that he said anything while he was drinking ale. He often asked where she was. I generally cleaned the room in the morning; when I went to the room in the morning he would say, "Where is your mother; is she not up yet?" I would remind him of her death, and he would say, "O, I forgot." This asking for his wife continued until his death.

Q—Did you ever hear him speak of his father after his wife's death? A—I heard him speak of him frequently; he would speak of his father as living; if any person came in he would say "My father was here to see me yesterday." I don't recollect of him saying anything else about his father. He used that expression frequently; this occurred after his wife's death, and, as far as I remember, continued until he died. His father was never there; I heard him often speak that way before Michael McSwiggen; I never heard him speak of any other person that was dead.

Q—Did you ever hear him speak about Rome? [Objected to as leading.] A. I heard him say that he had a dream that he was at the Councils in Rome; he supposed it a reality; he said he was amongst the Cardinals at Rome; I can't say how often he told it, he repeated it so many times; sometimes he would speak of himself as being a great prize-fighter, and sometimes of his boyhood days; he would speak of how he could use the "dumb-bells;" and of the large stones he could lift.

Q.—When did he say he was a prize-fighter—was it in former times or now? A.—In former times, in Ireland; he did not talk in former years in this manner, when he was right. These conversations that I have detailed occurred after his wife's death.

Cross-examined.—Q.—Were Mr. McCabe's limbs swollen during his illness? [Objected to as not cross-examination, but in chief.] A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Was it not during the swelling of his limbs that you noticed the flightiness of his mind? A.—His limbs were only swollen when he took sick. When he talked about the Council in Rome it was then in session.

Re-direct—Q.—Before Mr. McCabe took sick, and when well, did you ever hear him and his wife speak of what disposition would be made of his property, and what was said by him on the subject? A—I heard him say he would give a handsome sum to the church and orphans, and the rest would go to his children.

The "Manor Street" Petitioners Defeated—The Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston Railway Company Gain a Point—The Court Decides in their Favor—Preliminary Injunction Refused.

Our readers are already familiar with the trouble which has arisen between the Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston Railway Company and the authorities of St. Clair borough, in relation to the track laying on Manor street. It will be remembered that a few days ago an application was made for a preliminary injunction to restrain the Company from laying their tracks on Manor street. Yesterday the matter came up for argument in the Court of Common Pleas, Judge Sterrett presiding, when Mr. Dalzell offered an answer to the bill asking an injunction.

The answer denied that Manor street, over which the Company have laid their road, is within the limits of the borough of St. Clair: it avers that, according to the charter of Birmingham and the charter of St. Clair, said street is within the limits of Birmingham; that up to the time the railroad was proposed to be built on it, the people of St. Clair not only claimed no ownership of the street, but refused to spend any money on it, and the street has always been kept in repair by the Birmingham authorities, at their own expense; that Manor street instead of being thirty-three feet wide, is a street of variable width, averaging forty feet; that the houses on the south side of the street, belonging to the parties interested in filing the bill, encroach on the street from nine to fifteen feet. The answer admits that the Railroad Company are laying their tracks along said street, and avers they have a right so to do under their charter, without the consent of either the borough of St. Clair or the borough of Birmingham. It asserts, however, that the borough of Birminghom gave its consent to the location of the road along that street, and passed an ordinance embodying this assent. (A copy of this ordinance is attached to the answer.) The answer denies that the building of the railroad has caused or will cause any such damages as are alleged in the bill, and asserts that Manor street will be vastly improved as a public highway by the work in contemplation. The answer also denies that the railroad company is answerable at the suit of the borough of St. Clair, both because said borough has no title to the street in question, and because, if answerable at all, they are only so at the suit of the Commonwealth. The answer further avers that the railroad is being built upon the most available and practicable route that can be obtained, and one that will do the least damage to private property, and the streets of the said borough, and will most conduce to the public interest and to the interests of said company, having due regard to economy in the construction, management and maintenance of their road. That the occupation of said Manor street is indispensably necessary, and without its use no other route can be adopted reasonably sufficient to accommodate all the interests concerned. The answer further asserts that if a preliminary injunction should be granted, it would cause great pecuniary loss, and result in very heavy damages to the railroad company.

The argument in the case was considerably prolonged, occupying about three hours. At its conclusion the decision of the Court was rendered.

The Court held, upon the facts presented, and upon the authority of the cases of the Erie and Northwestern Railroad Company and Spear vs. the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad Company, that the defendants had a right to build their railroad along Manor street, a general discretion as to the route to be followed being given to them by their charter, in the absence of any proof of a wanton and abusive exercise of that discretion.

Therefore the preliminary injunction was denied, and T. C. Lazear was appointed examiner to take testimony, and master, to find and report facts.

POLICE NOTES.

Brief Mention of Criminal Items.

Elizabeth Kelsy, a colored woman, was before the Mayor yesterday for disorderly conduct. It appears that she caught hold of a man who was passing her on the street and used objectionable language to him. She was fined three dollars and costs.

Yesterday a small boy was at the Mayor's office charged with stealing and general badness. The boy's mother put in an appearance, and requested that the little fellow be sent to the House of Refuge, which was done.

Patrick Sullivan was drunk on a Birmingham street car yesterday and acted in a manner distasteful to the conductor and passengers. The conductor summoned Officer Mackerell, at the corner of Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, to arrest the man. Patrick was arrested and locked up, where he awaits a hearing.

The following cases occured yesterday before Mayor Callow, of Allegheny:

Mrs. Barbara Ehrmantrant, made the several charges of adultry, assault and battery, and surety of the peace, against her husband, Jacob Eurmantrant, alleging that the accused was guilty of the offense first named, with a woman named Elizabeth Fralich, who had for the last two or three years resided in their family, and in support of the second and third charges, she alleges that he struck her and threatened to do her further bodily harm. The parties reside in Sawmill alley, and Jacob works at Bissell's foundry. He is about fifty years of age, and the family consists of himself, wife, the woman named and eight children. The prosecutrix is the mother of four of the children, and "that woman" is maternal parent of the remaining four. "Can such things be?" Warrant issued for the arrest of Jacob.

Officer A. M. Couch, made an information charging Jane Dieny with felonious assault and battery. He alleges that the accused, who resides in the South Diamond, near Sandusky street, did strike her little daughter Rose, aged about fourteen, with a bar of iron, inflicting a severe wound on the child's head. A warrant was issued and the accused will be arrested this morning.

William McGarry charged J. P. Jones with aggravated assault and battery. The parties work at the locomotive works in Manchester, and yesterday, in the shop, it is alleged, the accused struck McGarry on the head with a piece of iron. Jones is in the lock-up awaiting a hearing.

Mary Leech complained that her husband, Samuel Leech, did threaten to whip her, and the police are now looking for Samuel.

Before Alderman Eggers, Mrs. Magdalena Dieterman made an information charging that her husband, John Dieterman, did knock her down. This was on Monday, and John was at once arrested and sent to the lock-up for a hearing. Yesterday morning, however, Mrs. D. had relented, and the charge was withdrawn.

Alderman R. H. Kerr, of the Ninth ward, Allegheny, yesterday committed Wm. Bisch to jail to answer at Court a charge of assault and battery preferred by Lewis Hilkie.

Alderman McMasters committed James King for a hearing on a charge of false pretenses. C. Cherry, Jr., is the prosecutor.

Before Mayor Brush, Jenny Malcolm made an information last evening, charging Charles Smith with disorderly conduct, alleging that the accused met her in a saloon on Sixth street, and maltreated her in a shameful manner. Officers Moore and Long arrested Smith, who is in the lock-up. The Mayor will deal with him this morning in his usual gentle manner.

"Chaff" Cooper was charged yesterday, at the office of Alderman McMasters with assault and battery on oath of Lizzie Kersey. So effective was the blow given her by the redoubtable "Chaff" on Monday, that she has been spitting blood ever since. "Chaff" was arrested but waived a hearing and gave bail for trial. The parties are colored.

John Morrison charges Daniel Jackson with surety of the peace. The accused, it is alleged, challenged deponent to fight, and threatened to do him bodily injury. Daniel was arrested, and a hearing will be had this morning.

Alderman Smith issued a warrant for a colored boy, named James Nipple, charged by Elizabeth Stafford, of West Deer township, with malicious mischief, in having worried her into an uncomfortable state of mind and body by his teasing and taunting manner.

FELL AMONG THIEVES.

A Young Man of Respectable Appearance Claims to have been Drugged and Robbed. A Hard Story if a True One.

A well dressed and respectable looking young man was before the Mayor yesterday morning, for drunkenness. He was arrested in the Twelfth ward and was undoubtedly intoxicated at the time the arrest was made. He had no money to pay the fine imposed and was sent to jail for forty-eight hours. He claimed to have been robbed and to have baggage at the Union Depot. He earnestly asked permission to go up and see about it, and the officer holding his commitment consented to accompany him to the depot, and did so. We are told that, on describing his baggage, the baggage master stated that it was there, and promised to keep it until he should call for it in person. The young man was then sent to jail.

After being committed to jail he related his story in full and if it be true it is sufficient to excite pity and sympathy in the sternest heart. According to his statement his home is in New Orleans, but some time since he went to Hot Springs, Arkansas, for his health. He started on his return home, and at Louisville, Ky., met his mother coming to visit her relatives at Titusville. He accompanied her thither and made a short visit there, after which he started again for home, arriving here Monday evening.

While waiting at the Depot for the train, he met two men claiming to be from Indiana. Presently the trio were joined by two acquaintances of the Indiana men who proposed taking a walk. They went to a hotel and called for the drinks. The young man states positively that he drank only three times, and is confident that the liquor was drugged, as though not an habitual drinker, he never was before affected to any serious extent by drinking the amount that he drank that night. He was gravely affected on this occasion, however, and states that he lost all consciousness after taking the third drink, and does not remember anything that took place until he found himself in the station house cell. Then he discovered, he says, that he had been robbed of his pocketbook containing all his money, some eighty-five dollars, his railroad ticket, and his baggage checks. His silver watch was also gone. His belief, of course, is that his companions drugged and robbed him.

He knows nothing regarding what became of the men thereafter, save that they told him that they were going out of the city on yesterday morning's train. This is the young man's story, and it certainly should be fully investigated by the proper authorities.

Hubley's Steam Wash Boiler—A Great Success—Its Use Recommended.

We have often had our attention invited to patent washing machines, so great a desideratum to our wives and housekeepers, but each one in turn fails to give the complete satisfaction that is claimed for it. The man who will invent the machine which will lighten the severe labors of wash day will receive the hearty benisons of our women folks during all time. We are fully persuaded that the correct idea has at last been applied in the patent of Thomas U. Parker of Mifflintown, Pennsylvania as sold by John Hafer of Bedford Co., Pennsylvania who has sold the right for our County to Geo W. Hubley at a large cost and the latter gentleman is now manufacturing boilers under this valuable patent. The clothes after undergoing a thorough soaking over night, are placed in the boiler without previous rubbing, and are subjected to a saturation with steam, which penetrates every thread and fibre, and frees from them the adhering dirt. After they are taken from the boiler, there is scarcely any rubbing on the board needed, so thoroughly are they cleaned in this process. We have carefully examined this invention and its practical results, with a view to writing this notice, if they proved satisfactory.

We cordially, and without the least hesitation, endorse all that is claimed for it, and recommend it to every housekeeper who reads this, satisfied that we are doing them a favor, and one which they will thank us for. The price at which Mr. Hubley sells these boilers (or we ought to say dirt eradicators, which fit inside of any boiler,) is so low that the poorest washerwoman can buy one, and thus lighten her labors. Having fully endorsed them, and heartily recommended them, we can say no more, unless we add, go at once to Hubley's, No. 68 Federal street, Allegheny, and secure a machine which is warranted to do your washing in one-half of the usual time, and with less than half of the labor and expense for soap.

A Card to the Public.

You are respectfully invited to call at Stevenson & Cartwright tin and stove emporium, 158 Federal street, Allegheny, to see something wonderful in the art of washing. A wash boiler is in operation that will wash clothes in thirty minutes beautifully white and clean without a particle of rubbing. It really does away with all the hard labor of washing. Come and see the little wonder in operation. You will be astonished at its work. I challenge any apparatus in the country to equal Robb's Anlamatic Wash Boiler.
